Estimated Budget Exceeds Expected Receipts for '64

An estimated budget for 1965 that anticipates general fund expenditures of $292,793 was adopted last night by City Council.

The budget, established as a guideline for city government operations in the coming year, is $22,973.38 more than current anticipated receipts which have been estimated at $269,819.62. This excess amount has been listed as money for estimated additional needs within the city.

Councilmen indicated that if receipts are not forthcoming to meet the proposed budget, it will mean that money will have to be trimmed when actual appropriations are made during the coming year. Figures listed in the yearly financial schedule are based mainly on amounts requested by various city department heads.

The tentative income and expenditure figures list a balance of $17,244.62 from 1964, although this amount can only be estimated at this time.

IN COMPARISON, total general fund expenditures for 1964 have been estimated at $275,082.65. This is about $5,000 less than the amount expected to be spent when the budget was made out in 1963. Anticipated receipts for the current year have been estimated at $292,327.27.

Heaviest general fund expenditures for the coming year will be for the customary services provided by police, fire and Municipal Court operations.

Police department expenditures have been estimated at $82,050, compared to $79,000 for 1964.

The estimate for fire department expenditures is $69,995, compared to $45,300 for 1964. The increase includes salary increases already approved and additional funds for equipment, more firemen personnel and new fire hydrants.

Tentative expenditures for Municipal Court are $30,294, compared to $27,020 for this year.

Included in the new budget was $9,800 earmarked for the City Planning Commission. Council has indicated that this money will be used for preparation of a comprehensive development plan for the city if possible.

The tentative budget was prepared through the efforts of Mayor Ben Gordon, Auditor Marv Turner and members of Council's finance committee.

A copy will be certified to the County Auditor for later review by the Pickaway County Budget Commission.

3 Feared Dead In Akron Storm

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A young girl and a policeman and a college boy who tried to rescue her sank Tuesday in water and mud in a huge hole that a burst sewer line gouged in a four-lane highway during a heavy thunderstorm.

More than 100 policemen, firemen and volunteer workers toiled through the night trying to recover bodies of the three and the car in which the girl had been riding. Their job was complicated when soil on the sides of the crater kept crumbling, and a sheetmetal casing was constructed at the scene to be lowered into the hole by a crane.

Water racing along the broken sewer line sucked out a hole about 25 feet in diameter and about 40 feet deep. The cave-in cut across both eastbound lanes of Tallmadge Parkway (Ohio 18) on the city's north side and undetermined a third lane.

There was a possibility the victims could have been washed through the big tile sewer into the Little Cuyahoga River a quarter mile away and dredging was done there.

2 Veteran Congressmen Are Opposed

BOSTON (AP)—House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., who is 72, and former Speaker Joseph W. Martin, R-Mass., who will be 80 in November, face re-election challenges.

Noel A. Day, a Negro civil rights leader, filed Tuesday as an independent candidate for McCormack's seat, and said he was challenging "the entrenched political power in Congress for its failure to deal creatively with the problems of poverty."

Former State Rep. William F. Nourse of Medford, seeking to wrest the Republican nomination from Martin, said the "time requires a more energetic course than a 79-year-old political veteran can follow."

McCormack, next in line for the presidency, is completing his 19th consecutive term. Martin has represented his district for 20 consecutive terms since 1925.

Social Security Boost Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Rules Committee has cleared for floor debate sometime next week a bill to increase Social Security benefits and extend coverage to some 500,000 additional retired persons.

If the legislation reaches the Senate, it may provide a vehicle to revive the Johnson administration's proposal to set up a health care plan for the aged with Social Security taxes.

The House Ways and Means Committee rejected the health plan, but it provided a 5 per cent across-the-board increase in Social Security payments and relaxed coverage requirements

FBI Probing Possible Red Tie to Rioting

Harlem Is Quiet, But Trouble Flares In Brooklyn Area

NEW YORK (AP)—The FBI is probing possible Communist influence in the city's racial violence, which continued throughout the night in Brooklyn's Negro section and resulted in the critical wounding of two Negroes by police.

Acting Mayor Paul R. Screvane said the Harlem disorders had been incited in part by "fringe groups, including the Communist party."

He suggested that the FBI agents might investigate the source of money for some street rallies and for some of the "very inflammatory...anti-American...and seditious statements."

The FBI investigation began on orders from President Johnson.

The Daily News said well-financed professional agitators, representing the extreme right as well as the extreme left, were calling the tune in the violence. The News said:

"In an unholy alliance, one high source disclosed, both the Communies and extreme Southern right-wingers have been supporting the Black Muslims because they are the most violent muscle unit."

The newspaper said the Muslims "have bragged of receiving money from a Texas millionaire," but did not identify him.

U.S. GI, 135 Vietnamese Said Missing

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—The Communist Viet Cong destroyed 75 per cent of a government battalion and captured an American sergeant in one phase of bloody engagements Tuesday near the southern tip of Viet Nam, accounts from the scene said today.

In all, at least 26 government troops were killed and 135 were missing and presumed captured by the red guerrillas in a battle set off by the ambushing of a government truck convoy. A U.S. Army captain was among the wounded brought to Saigon.

Of the several government units involved, the 1st Battalion of the 31st Infantry seemed hardest hit. Only 87 men emerged uninjured from a surprise attack by Communist bushwhackers. The remaining 263 were either killed, wounded or missing.

Sgt. Ben Munsey of Manchester, N.H., flying a tiny spotter plane at tree-top level, was a horrified spectator.

"I could not believe my eyes," he said. "One moment there was only green vegetation and water with khaki-clad government troops wending their way slowly through it."

"Suddenly 400 black-clothed men erupted among them, shooting and maneuvering with practiced efficiency. They were the fastest-moving men I have ever seen in my life."

They were assured of the continuing income from a $435,000 trust when the will of the late Dr. William W. Grier was given final approval in San Diego Superior Court Tuesday.

The cats are Brownie, 15 years old, and Helicat, 14. Dr. Grier who died June 2, 1963, named four cats as heirs in his will, but two died before he did.

Mrs. Avila Horn who is taking care of Brownie and Helicat, said they eat the best but it only costs about $10 a week.

Latin Ministers Ponder Action Against Castro

WASHINGTON (AP)—Urged on by a march of Cuban exiles, some of whom rioted briefly Tuesday, foreign ministers of Western Hemisphere nations considered today what steps to take against Cuban aggression.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, pushing the United States request for action, was among the day's scheduled speakers.

A clash of several hundred Cubans with hastily summoned police marred what had started out as a peaceful demonstration by more than 5,000 Cuban exiles who came here to urge action against the Castro regime.

Vietnamese Drop Teams Against Reds

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—South Vietnamese Air Force planes are dropping sabotage teams over Communist North Viet Nam and are training to extend their combat operations, the air force commander said today.

Air Commodore Nguyen Cao Ky told reporters at Bien Hoa airfield that Russian-made jets were attempting interception of the flights. He reported the North Vietnamese "have radar and very good anti-aircraft."

Ky said he has personally piloted a plane over North Viet Nam and that the raids continue.

"We keep very low and they can't hit us," he said.

The remarks were the first official statement that military operations are being conducted by the Saigon government directly against North Viet Nam.

The Communist Radio Hanoi repeatedly has broadcast announcements of trials of "spy commandos" captured in North Viet Nam. The latest trial reported was in April.

Ky told his airfield news conference he felt that Red China probably would move into the fight if North Viet Nam was bombed, but that South Viet Nam should go ahead anyway to combat Hanoi's work in support of the Viet Cong guerrillas.

3-Judge Panel Hearing Pleas

Maze of Moves Clouds Case

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Sam Sheppard's freedom was at stake today at a hearing by the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

The three-judge panel will hear arguments on a stay order that followed the convicted wife slayer's release from prison last Thursday on a writ of habeas corpus.

Since his release, the 40-year-old former Bay Village osteopath has married German divorcee Ariane Tebbenjohanns in Chicago and visited New York City.

Sheppard, his wife, and attorney F. Lee Bailey were to fly to Cleveland this morning from New York. Sheppard and Bailey were to appear at the hearing. Mrs. Sheppard planned to accompany them to Akron.

The latest in a maze of legal moves was a motion filed in Cincinnati Tuesday asking that the order that freed Sheppard be set aside.

The order to cut short his freedom was signed by U.S. Appeals Court Judge Lester L. Cecil of Dayton. Paul C. Weick of Akron and Clifford O'Sullivan of Port Huron, Mich., will join Judge Cecil for today's hearing.

The stay order would cancel Sheppard's $10,000 bond set by U.S. District Court Judge Carl A. Weinman of Dayton. In setting aside Sheppard's conviction, Judge Weinman said Sheppard's rights to a fair trial had been violated because of adverse publicity.

Sheppard spent nearly nine years in prison for the July 4, 1954 bludgeoning slaying of his pregnant wife, Marilyn. He claimed a "bushy haired intruder" did the killing. Sheppard was sentenced to a life term for second-degree murder.

The motion filed in Cincinnati was by Cuyahoga County prosecutor John T. Corrigan. Judge Weinman had given him 60 days to call for a new trial for Sheppard.

Corrigan has said that in the Local Airport Evaluation Is Urged

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes issued a call to all Ohio communities today to evaluate their local airport facilities and where needed, "take immediate steps to build new airports and improve existing facilities."

The governor said in a prepared statement that "the airport is the front door to your community—this is the doorway to expand industry, increased state prosperity and of even greater importance, additional jobs for Ohioans."

He said good airports and aircraft facilities are vital to the economic growth and industrial development of Ohio and that "it is necessary that every community in the state realize this. It is equally important for the smaller cities as for the large urban areas to have such facilities available."

Carder, whose case was transferred from Juvenile Court to Common Pleas Court so that he could be tried as an adult on the murder charge, has pleaded innocent by reason of insanity and self defense.

No trial date has been set.

Spacecraft Tests Out OK On Reentry

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—A delta-winged spacecraft successfully rocketed over a scorching 12,000-mile-an-hour ballistic course today on a flight intended to test materials for maneuverable manned space vehicles.

The sleek black payload was propelled skyward by a two-stage Thor-Delta rocket which blasted away from Cape Kennedy at 10:39 a.m. (EST).

The craft darted to an altitude of about 40 miles and then screamed back through the atmosphere to a landing in the Atlantic Ocean after a 25-minute flight.

The launching was the third of six planned in the Air Force's Project Asset, which stands for aerothermodynamic-elastic structural systems environmental tests.

So far the program has had only partial success. The first Asset vehicle survived a ballistic flight and radioed good data but sank in the Atlantic when flotation gear failed. The second shot failed because of trouble with the second stage of the Thor-Delta booster.

Goal of the Asset series is to verify structural soundness of the spacecraft and to determine how well various protective materials withstand atmospheric buffeting and re-entry heat up to 4,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

The Asset craft are miniature versions of what future astronaut vehicles might look like. They weigh 1,100 pounds, are six feet tall and have a wing-span of five feet.

Stock Mart Still Sliding

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock-market prices duplicated the pattern of the last two sessions by heading downward early this afternoon. Activity continued at a sub-5-million-share pace.

Prices were steady most of the morning. Shortly before midday, more and more minus signs appeared. All major groups were lower or no better than mixed.

At noon, The Associated Press 60-stock average was off a minimum .1 at 319.8 with industrials down .6, rails up .5 and utilities unchanged.

Once again there was no specific news to cause the price slide.

The noon Dow Jones industrial average was 844.47, off 2.48.

event of a new trial, he feels that the state certainly "could make a case against him."

He said all the physical evidence has been preserved and that while many of the witnesses are scattered, they could be located.

Corrigan also said there is no double jeopardy involved in the case. This applies when a man has been found innocent and later circumstances indicate he may have been guilty of a crime, he explained.

Others have indicated however, a belief that it would be difficult to try Sheppard again. They note, among other things, that eight persons involved in the case have died in the ensuing years.

These include Common Pleas Court Judge Edward Blythin, the presiding judge; John J. Mahon, assistant prosecutor who later became a common pleas judge; William H. Corrigan, chief defense lawyer; Sheriff Joseph Seeneey, in whose custody Sheppard remained pending trial, and county detective Carl Rossbach.

Rossbach was among the first investigators at the murder scene in the early morning hours of July 5, 1954.

Jurist Rules

All Meetings To Be 'Open'

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—An Appeals Court judge today reversed a lower court decision and said all meetings of city boards and commissions are open to the public.

Judge Perry H. Stevens of the Ninth District Court of Appeals wrote the decision.

The legal question was raised last year in a suit by the Akron Beacon Journal, after one of its reporters was barred from two separate meetings at Akron City Hall. The city agreed to join in the suit to determine what the law was.

The city argued meetings of the Civil Service Commission, planning commission, Health Commission and the Akron University Board of Directors were exempt from the open meeting law spelled out by city ordinance passed in 1955.

Summit County Common Pleas Judge Stephen C. Colopy upheld the city's argument. He said boards and commissions created by the city charter were not governed by the open meeting ordinance.

The newspaper then appealed to the Ninth District court.

Man Is Indicted For Beating Tot

JACKSON, Ohio (AP)—Minor Davey Leach, 29, of Wellston has been indicted by a Jackson County grand jury on a charge of aggravated assault in the beating of a three-year-old boy.

Common Pleas Judge Thomas Mitchell said the jury will be called back into session to consider a more serious charge against Leach if the boy, Bernard Blanchard, dies.

The boy is in critical condition in Holzer Hospital, Gallipolis, with head injuries suffered in what authorities said was a prolonged beating at the home of his mother, Mrs. Joyce Wells of west of Wellston.

Leach had been staying at the Wells home.

40 Negro Youngsters Stage Sit-in at Pool

PORTSMOUTH Ohio (AP)—Forty Negro boys and girls, reportedly acting on their own, staged a sit-in Tuesday at the Terrace Club Swimming Pool—scene of a similar protest by adults six days ago. Police removed the youngsters but filed no charges. Local civil rights leaders said the demonstration was planned by the youngsters themselves.

Fisherman Is Killed By Lightning Bolt

CHARDON Ohio (AP) — A fisherman was killed by lightning that struck him as he sat with his 16-year-old son in a boat on LaDue Reservoir in Auburn Township.

Killed Tuesday was John Parker, 4, a salesman for the Bostwick Braun Co. in Akron. His son, John Jr., was treated for shock.

Dozen Republican Leaders Can't Support Goldwater

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A dozen Republican politicians, including New York's two senators, say they can't support GOP nominee Barry Goldwater for president—as of now.

None bolted the party. None said he would campaign for President Johnson.

Most said Tuesday they might back the Arizona senator if he clarifies or revises his views.

Sens. Jacob K. Javits and Kenneth B. Keating of New York announced their stands in separate news conferences.

Both supported Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York for the GOP nomination, and switched to Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania when Rockefeller withdrew.

Javits, who is not up for reelection this year, said he would work for a state platform along the lines proposed by Scranton for a national platform at the San Francisco convention. He said he hopes Goldwater will do something to enable him to support the national ticket.

Keating said he didn't want to lay down dogmatic conditions for his possible later support of Goldwater but said the Arizonaan should disassociate himself from all extremist groups "like the John Birch Society."

Keating said he hasn't decided if he will seek re-election this year, but if he does it will be as an independent Republican.

Rockefeller has said he would support the GOP ticket. But he sharply criticized the statement on extremism Goldwater made in his speech accepting the presidential nomination. Since then Rockefeller has made no further statement.

One prominent New York Republican, State Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney, said he expected that "all Republicans will be able to support the Goldwater-Miller ticket as the campaign unfolds."

Other Republicans said they are holding off support of Goldwater. They included Gov. John H. Reed of Maine, Rep. Silvio O. Conte of Massachusetts State Senate Majority Leader William E. Ozzard of New Jersey, Sen. J. Glenn Beall of Maryland, Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin of Baltimore, a former governor; and Rep. James G. Fulton of Pennsylvania.

Fulton said he felt more akin to President Johnson than to Goldwater but might write in a vote for Scranton.

Sen. Clifford P. Case of New Jersey said his mail is 20-1 in favor of his decision not to support Goldwater unless the Arizonaan modifies his views.

McKeldin said he understood new voter registrations in Baltimore are 10-1 Democratic, while the normal ratio is 3-1.

In Harvey, Ill., the Rev. Wilbur N. Daniel, Negro candidate for Congress on Chicago's South Side, said he would not support Goldwater.

In Seattle, Lou Kessler, former chief parole and probation officer for the state of Washington, filed as a candidate for governor opposing two GOP candidates he said had tied themselves to Goldwater's coattails.

Syncom III May Televis Olympics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Plans to use a new communications satellite Syncom III, for television transmission of the Olympic Games in Japan to the United States and Canada were announced today.

The plans also provide for speeding video tapes of the Syncom transmissions by jet plane from Montreal to Europe, so European TV audiences will be able to see the Olympic Games pictures the same day.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration plans to launch Syncom III in mid-August into a "stationary" or hovering orbit 23,000 miles above the Pacific.

The Communications Satellite Corp.—COMSAT — worked out arrangements for the Olympic transmissions with the cooperation of NASA, the Defense Department, the Japanese government and the Japan Broadcasting Corp.

COMSAT, created by Congress to develop a commercial communications satellite system, said it was directing the project on a non-profit basis, as an experiment in compliance with a State Department finding that "it would be in the national interest."

The summer Olympics will be held from Oct. 10 through Oct. 24.

Singapore Troops Enforce Curfew

SINGAPORE (AP)—A daytime curfew enforced by more than 6,000 troops and police restored quiet today to Singapore Island after racial riots between Malays and Chinese in which 8 persons were killed and 341 injured.

During Tuesday night's fighting rioters attacked a U.S. consulate car in which Charles J. Rogers of Santa Cruz, Calif., a diplomatic courier, was riding with a Malay driver.

Rogers said the mob, which he believed was composed mainly of Chinese, smashed the car's windows and headlights with clubs and bottles. The Malay driver was cut by flying glass.

'Offensive' Mail Ban Is Given Nod

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House has given overwhelming approval to a bill that would let homeowners block "morally offensive" mail. Opponents said the legislation invades the right of free speech.

Passage came Tuesday on a 325-19 roll-call vote. The bill now goes to the Senate.

A person who received mail he considered morally offensive could notify the postmaster general he wants future mailings from that source stopped. The sender would have 30 days to comply with the postmaster general's order.

If the mailings continued, the sender would be subject to contempt of court action.

boy by an off-duty police officer, was relatively quiet Tuesday night.

In Brooklyn's Bedford-Stuyvesant section, police fired at looters. Dozens of store windows were broken.

About two dozen persons were arrested.

Police reported a number of the burglaries in Harlem, the big Negro neighborhood in Manhattan. A few shots were fired by police to disperse unruly gatherings. But there were no large crowds, demonstrations or anything like the weekend rioting in which one man was killed and more than 100 injured.

In Brooklyn, the trouble started after a Black Nationalist street rally that drew about 500 Negroes. Firecrackers exploded in the crowd and many people scattered in panic.

More than 200 police moved in to quell the disturbance. They fired more than 150 shots in the air. Bottles were thrown. Store windows were broken. Subways were ordered to skip the Franklin and Nostrand street stops for a time.

The crowd broke up after an hour or two and police began getting reports of looting throughout the section.

About 24 Negroes were taken into custody.

A police sergeant said Sumner Avenue was "all torn up," with many store windows broken.

Small crowds gathered at stores where burglar alarms rang in the night. They cursed police whenever patrolmen appeared.

At police headquarters in Manhattan about 250 white teenagers hurled rotten eggs at 16 members of the Congress of Racial Equality, who were picketing Tuesday night against what they called police brutality.

Deputy Police Commissioner Walter Arm, who was talking to reporters when the barrage started, ran to escape it but was hit on the leg.

The teen-agers, who live near the headquarters, shouted "Go back to Harlem" and "Communists" at the pickets.

Pilot Not Injured In Forced Landing

The pilot of a private plane was not injured in a forced landing yesterday evening near New Holland.

Barclay F. Grant, enroute from Akron to Urbana, attempted to bypass a storm and landed his single engine plane in a field belonging to Galen Kirk, New Holland.

In setting the plane down, Grant failed to negotiate his speed and distance and crashed into a fence on the farm. The collision caused the plane to flip over on its top.

Deputy Sheriff Gene Kerns estimated damage to the plane at $150.

One of the motorists, Carl Le-masters, 38, Springfield, forfeited a $29 bond for speeding 70 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

The following four signed waivers of court hearings.

Larry Eugene Hall, 24, Tucson, Ariz.; $20 and costs for speeding 70 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Frank Stone, arrested by city police, $10 and costs for speeding 45 miles per hour in a 35 mile zone.

David Adams, 44, Columbus; $11 and costs for speeding 51 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Eugene D. Sexton, 42, Lafayette, Tenn.; $17 and costs for speeding 52 miles per hour in a 35 mile zone.

boy by an off-duty police officer, was relatively quiet Tuesday night.

In Brooklyn's Bedford-Stuyvesant section, police fired at looters. Dozens of store windows were broken.

About two dozen persons were arrested.

Police reported a number of the burglaries in Harlem, the big Negro neighborhood in Manhattan. A few shots were fired by police to disperse unruly gatherings. But there were no large crowds, demonstrations or anything like the weekend rioting in which one man was killed and more than 100 injured.

In Brooklyn, the trouble started after a Black Nationalist street rally that drew about 500 Negroes. Firecrackers exploded in the crowd and many people scattered in panic.

More than 200 police moved in to quell the disturbance. They fired more than 150 shots in the air. Bottles were thrown. Store windows were broken. Subways were ordered to skip the Franklin and Nostrand street stops for a time.

The crowd broke up after an hour or two and police began getting reports of looting throughout the section.

About 24 Negroes were taken into custody.

A police sergeant said Sumner Avenue was "all torn up" with many store windows broken.

Small crowds gathered at stores where burglar alarms rang in the night. They cursed police whenever patrolmen appeared.

At police headquarters in Manhattan about 250 white teenagers hurled rotten eggs at 16 members of the Congress of Racial Equality, who were picketing Tuesday night against what they called police brutality.

Deputy Police Commissioner Walter Arm, who was talking to reporters when the barrage started, ran to escape it but was hit on the leg.

The teen-agers, who live near the headquarters, shouted "Go back to Harlem" and "Communists" at the pickets.

Pilot Not Injured In Forced Landing

The pilot of a private plane was not injured in a forced landing yesterday evening near New Holland.

Barclay F. Grant, enroute from Akron to Urbana, attempted to bypass a storm and landed his single engine plane in a field belonging to Galen Kirk, New Holland.

In setting the plane down, Grant failed to negotiate his speed and distance and crashed into a fence on the farm. The collision caused the plane to flip over on its top.

Deputy Sheriff Gene Kerns estimated damage to the plane at $150.

Mower Fire Checked

City firemen were called to check a lawnmower which caught fire on Margaret Ave., at 5 p. m. yesterday. Firemen said the blaze was out when they arrived.

Communist Disarray

Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito, denounced by Stalin as a traitor to international communism (after which Washington bestowed several billions in foreign aid on him), now, at Khrushchev's request, pleads with Romania for greater cooperation with Moscow.

This development followed by only a day Romania's public disagreement with Russia at the Geneva disarmament conference. The disarmament discord developed after Moscow's delegate again proposed an across-the-board reduction in military budgets. The West consistently has opposed this maneuver, arguing that the Soviet system could easily conceal military expenditures whereas Western governments, with their open parliaments and free press, could not.

The surprising bolt came when Romania's delegate agreed with the West, noting that "certain countries are guilty of a great scarcity of information" on their military expenditures.

All this might be regarded as providing aid and comfort for the West were it not for the fact that Romania's present leaders also have criticized Moscow for going soft and continue to see virtue in Red China's revolutionary zeal. About all that can be said with certainty is that communist alliances, no less than bourgeois coalitions, have a way of falling into disarray.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—Political turmoil and racial strife are being added to the uncertainties of business planning.

Businessmen have to plan ahead—or else. This summer had seemed to offer far less than the usual number of uncertainties. As the planners took to the woods or the beaches, all the signs still pointed to a further climb in the economy—and the signs still do.

The bellwethers—the big corporations and the stock market—obviously were counting on good times.

The corporations were announcing increased spending plans, for updating equipment or adding to existing production facilities. And these plans of necessity looked well into the future.

The stock market has been betting on the nearer term. Prices, especially of many blue chips, have been bid to record highs. The meaning seemed clear—the big factors, individual or institutional, expected increased earnings in the future, and maybe dividends, and certainly higher market values for outstanding shares.

Regular uncertainties that plague the planners were still there, of course. International strife could always upset any predictions. Natural catastrophes such as weather or earthquakes could hit some industries or regions. The always unpredictable consumer could change from his present state of calm confidence to one of doubt and then consumer spending would fall, and so would business sales and earnings.

And the aging business upturn could run afoul of the traditional cycle, if any excesses should develop to trigger a downturn.

But the economic signs on the whole were, and are, remarkably near unanimity in predicting continuing good times.

For many business planners, however there are now some new uncertainties to deal with.

What could racial strife do to production in some localities, to consumer buying here and there, to the choice of localities for new plants? Rioting can mean property damages and loss of goods. It can also frighten away shoppers, or even keep factory workers away from their jobs. Some tourists are reported nervous. Travel to some trouble spots has dropped.

Racial strife goes even deeper than these surface matters. Top management in many corporations is taking a new look at hiring plans, at advertising campaigns, at moves to enter new markets. Management-labor relations are affected in a number of industries.

A summer that looked like an economic shoo-in might yet develop some business fireworks unforeseen only a short time back.

Retirement Plans Revealed

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Life keeps a fellow so busy doing about half the things he ought to do that he doesn't have time to do a third of the things he'd like to.

So he has to postpone his pleasures most of his life. He is too busy doing his duty to really enjoy himself.

I have no sympathy with people who retire unwillingly at 65 and then proceed immediately to die of boredom. To me they are stubborn and unimaginative.

When the world removes them from the harness of the daily plodding, they take revenge by dying.

They live by the puritanical idea that work is given to man to keep him out of mischief. Without work they feel they have no mission in life.

I have just the opposite theory. I think the only purpose of work is to save enough money to spend the rest of your life in mischief and riotous self-indulgence. I believe that any kind of employment is a form of slavery and any man who submits to it an hour longer than he has to is an unenlightened fool.

I know exactly what I'm going to do with myself when I'm 65. Planned retirement has been my constant daydream ever since I started sweeping out a grocery store at the age of 10 and gained an early and lifelong distaste for honest labor.

As soon as the office gives me the farewell $27.50 imitation leather traveling bag and the $1.95 goodbye lunch, I'm going to open the window by my desk and drop this typewriter six floors to the street below.

Then I'm going home to a little place in the country and sit motionless in the rocking chair on the front porch for a solid month.

Then I'm going to rock until I feel rested.

Then I'm going to buy a barrel of bourbon and drink it while I read a thousand books in my library whose pages I have yet to turn.

Then I am going down to the Bowery and get an artist to tattoo on my chest a giant eagle, an American flag and the motto, "Liberty or Death."

Then I am going to start smoking cigarettes and learn to inhale.

Then I will run away from home.

"So long, kids," I will tell my weeping wife and awe-struck grandchildren. "It sure has been fun knowing you, but there is no reason for making the arrangement permanent."

Then I am going to the beautiful island of Bali, a place I saw in my youth and have always had a hankering to return to.

And if, thereafter, you never hear from me, please don't worry. If a fellow can't find something to keep himself occupied with on Bali he really doesn't deserve retirement.

LAFF-A-DAY

"Now, if you folks were getting ready to go some place... just tell us!"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

BACK FROM A record-breaking engagement at a Miami Beach hotel, Joe E. Lewis reported that a high spot of his sojourn came when a beautiful girl in the scantiest of bathing suits came up and asked him to teach her how to swim. "I was doing magnificently with her," boasted Joe, "until some nosy lifeguard came along and made us go in the water."

A fan of Bob Hope clapped him on the shoulder and yakked, "I remember when you were playing the juvenile lead in a Broadway musical. Boy, you were handsome in those days: big chest, broad stomach." "Ah, yes," sighed Hope. "Of course, all that's BEHIND me now."

Looking for a gift at a seaside novelty shop to take to her weekend hostess, a woman picked up an intricate gadget with several moving parts. "This looks interesting," she told the clerk. "What is it?"

The clerk examined the gadget gingerly for a moment, then admitted, "I guess it isn't anything. Just a present."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

I have just learned that I am pregnant, after having been married for three years. I must confess that I am afraid of the whole idea of giving birth. I am also afraid that I will lose my physical attractiveness with pregnancy.

Mrs. A.S.L., Minnesota

Dear Mrs. L: If you are one of the fortunate women who are looking forward to having a baby this year, you should find great comfort in the reassuring statistics on childbirth today.

The magnificent advances of medical science have made childbirth a safe and simple process. There is no reason to spoil this joyous experience with unrealistic fears about your physical well-being or attractiveness.

Expectant mothers need not be concerned that their altered appearance will make them less appealing to their husbands. It is an established fact that when the marriage is a happy union, the prospect of parenthood actually enriches the love and devotion of husband and wife.

Whenever I get upset, I begin to cry. I feel ridiculous, and am even more embarrassed because I have to keep blowing my nose. Is this normal?

Miss E.G.B., Florida

Dear Miss B: Crying is perfectly natural and understandable under severe stress.

Tears are also produced as a protective mechanism. When the eyes are irritated or contain a foreign body, tears serve to cleanse and soothe.

A limited quantity of tears is always being secreted by the lacrimal (tear) glands to lubricate the eyes, and is then drained off through a tiny hole (punctum lacrimale) in the lower lid, which connects with a tube (nasolacrimal duct) into the nose.

When a profusion of tears is produced by emotional upset or irritation of the eyes, some of the excess spills over the lower lid onto the cheek. The rest flows into the nose through the nasolacrimal duct, and out of the nose through the nostrils.

Crying is a perfectly normal body process which should not be a source of embarrassment. It is nature's way of protecting the eyes and providing a release for emotional tensions.

My children swim in a stream near our house. How can I find out if the water is pure or polluted?

Last Thoughts in Frisco

By John Chamberlain

Ruminations on leaving San Francisco: One heard a good deal in this city of the Argonauts of Barry Goldwater's propensity to shoot from the hip. Though this facet of the nominee's character, if indeed it actually exists, was generally decried, some Republicans boldly accepted it as a virtue.

The President of the Illinois Federation of Republican Women, Phyllis Schlafly, told a wildly cheering audience at the Hotel Fairmont that if the late President Kennedy had been an accurate hip-shooter like Goldwater there would never have been a Berlin Wall or a Bay of Pigs disaster.

Maybe, maybe. But, dodging the international implications of accurate hip-shooting, one may say that the nomination of Barry Goldwater in San Francisco was quite in keeping with the city's tradition.

Nothing in the history of the town smacks of measuring out one's span of life in mincing spoonfuls of prudence. They weren't prudent men who responded to the news of gold in Sutter's millrace. They weren't prudent men who marched behind Lieutenant Montgomery to plant the American eagle in Portsmouth Plaza. The Big Four — Leland Stanford, Collis Huntington, Charles Crocker and Mark Hopkins — who threw the old Central Pacific Railroad over the peaks and gorges of the Sierra — were not known for careful recessiveness. And the Kings of the Comstock silver lode who reared their mansions on Nob Hill knew how to twirl a gun or two.

The world has changed since then. But it might not hurt for Khrushchev and Mao Tse-tung to be reminded of the history of San Francisco.

While on the subject of boldness, this columnist would like to pay tribute to one of the profession who has been columnizing since the 1920s. I refer to Walter Winchell, now 67 years old. His nervous vitality puts any of this generation's cub reporters to shame.

I started to come back with him from the Cow Palace to San Francisco at 12 o'clock one night. It was three o'clock before I got to bed. Walter had a taxi lined up to take us in. But when a group of CORE demonstrators attempted to lie down at the Cow Palace gates Winchell said, "I gotta see this." A minute later he was up on the roof directing camera men.

Then he was down in the crowd, insisting that a Negro civil rights protester with a big police dog in leash stop to be interviewed. Walter wanted to know whether the protester was "returning the compliment" for Birmingham, Ala. He received this answer: "We've got the dog here for experience. We're training him."

Walter had the guts to remind the demonstrators that it wasn't quite in keeping with their protestations of peace to shout, "We want Barry Goldwater with a rope around his neck."

When our cab had finally broken through the demonstrators and gotten into the city limits of San Francisco, we ran into fire. "Stop," said Walter to the cab driver, "I gotta see this." He was out in a flash, interviewing firemen. It took me back to the 1920s when, as a New York Times cub, I sometimes followed the orillame of Winchell's tilted hat to fires on New York's Delancey Street.

I know exactly what I'm going to do with myself when I'm 65. Planned retirement has been my constant daydream ever since I started sweeping out a grocery store at the age of 10 and gained an early and lifelong distaste for honest labor.

As soon as the office gives me the farewell $27.50 imitation leather traveling bag and the $1.95 goodby lunch, I'm going to open the window by my desk and drop this typewriter six floors to the street below.

Then I'm going home to a little place in the country and sit motionless in the rocking chair on the front porch for a solid month.

Then I'm going to rock until I feel rested.

Then I'm going to buy a barrel of bourbon and drink it while I read a thousand books in my library whose pages I have yet to turn.

Then I am going down to the Bowers and get an artist to tattoo on my chest a giant eagle, an American flag and the motto, "Liberty or Death."

Then I am going to start smoking cigarettes and learn to inhale.

Then I will run away from home.

"So long, kids," I will tell my weeping wife and awestruck grandchildren. "It sure has been fun knowing you, but there is no reason for making the arrangement permanent."

Then I am going to the beautiful island of Bali, a place I saw in my youth and have always had a hankering to return to.

And if, thereafter, you never hear from me, please don't worry. If a fellow can't find something to keep himself occupied with on Bali he really doesn't deserve retirement.

Looking Back in Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

The local Du Pont plant held its annual picnic at Gold Cliff Park with approximately 1,000 employees and families present.

Nat C. Lefko, Northridge Road, left for a month's educational tour of Europe, Israel and Jerusalem.

Miss Peggy Justice, Miami, Fla., visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ethridge Justice, 225 E. Union St.

TEN YEARS AGO

A safety program was the highlight of the meeting of the Buckeye Stitches and Bakes held in Muhlenberg School.

Wesley Wed Class of First Methodist Church held a family picnic at Ted Lewis Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Hedges and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Cook and daughter returned from a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kissing and son, Mt. Pleasant, Mich.

Twenty-five years ago The Pickaway County Farm Bureau and Grange were planning a Farmers' Picnic at Gold Cliff Park.

Twenty-four golfers from Pickaway Country Club journeyed to Washington C. H. and finished on the losing end in a contest with the club there.

Mrs. Walter Steele and Mrs. Alma Dum, Madison Twp., entertained the Ashville Birthday Club.

Parisians Visit Paris

PARIS, Ky. (AP) — "We are tourists in Paris," the two Parisians said. And they proceeded to take lots of pictures.

The two were representatives of Gaumont Actualities of Paris, France, and they were filming a sequence for television about Paris, U.S.A.

They photographed Stoner Creek here (to compare it with the Seine) and said they would like to visit "Le A&P" supermarket.

They left here for Paris, Tenn., and planned to continue on to Paris, Tex.

"Now, if you folks were getting ready to go someplace... just tell us!"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

BACK FROM A record-breaking engagement at a Miami Beach hotel, Joe E. Lewis reported that a high spot of his sojourn came when a beautiful girl in the scantiest of bathing suits came up and asked him to teach her how to swim. "I was doing magnificently with her," boasted Joe, "until some nosy lifeguard came along and made us go in the water."

A fan of Bob Hope clapped him on the shoulder and yakked, "I remember when you were playing the juvenile lead in a Broadway musical. Boy, you were handsome in those days: big chest, broad stomach." "Ah, yes," sighed Hope. "Of course, all that's BEHIND me now."

Looking for a gift at a seaside novelty shop to take to her weekend hostess, a woman picked up an intricate gadget with several moving parts. "This looks interesting," she told the clerk. "What is it?"

The clerk examined the gadget gingerly for a moment, then admitted, "I guess it isn't anything. Just a present."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

I have just learned that I am pregnant, after having been married for three years. I must confess that I am afraid of the whole idea of giving birth. I am also afraid that I will lose my physical attractiveness with pregnancy.

Mrs. A.S.L., Minnesota
Dear Mrs. L: If you are one of the fortunate women who are looking forward to having a baby this year, you should find great comfort in the heartening statistics on childbirth to day.

The magnificent advances of medical science have made childbirth a safe and simple process. There is no reason to spoil this joyous experience with unrealistic fears about your physical well-being or attractiveness.

Expectant mothers need not be concerned that their altered appearance will make them less appealing to their husbands. It is an established fact that when the marriage is a happy union, the prospect of parenthood actually enriches the love and devotion of husband and wife.

Whenever I get upset, I begin to cry. I feel ridiculous, and am even more embarrassed because I have to keep blowing my nose. Is this normal?

Miss E.G.B., Florida
Dear Miss B.: Crying is perfectly natural and understandable under severe stress.

Tears are also produced as a protective mechanism. When the eyes are irritated or contain a foreign body, tears serve to cleanse and soothe.

A limited quantity of tears is always being secreted by the lacrimal (tear) glands to lubricate the eyes, and is then drained off through a tiny hole (punctum lacrimale) in the lower lid, which connects with a tube (nasolacrimal duct) into the nose.

When a profusion of tears is produced by emotional upset or irritation of the eyes, some of the excess spills over the lower lid onto the cheek. The rest flows into the nose through the nasolacrimal duct, and out of the nose through the nostrils.

Crying is a perfectly normal body process which should not be a source of embarrassment. It is nature's way of protecting the eyes and providing a release for emotional tensions.

My children swim in a stream near our house. How can I find out if the water is pure or polluted?

Mr. H.J., Massachusetts
Dear Mr. J.: Even when pol-

Last Thoughts in Frisco

By John Chamberlain

Ruminations on leaving San Francisco: One heard a good deal in this city of the Argonauts of Barry Goldwater's propensity to shoot from the hip. Though this facet of the nominee's character, if indeed it actually exists, was generally derided, some Republicans boldly accepted it as a virtue.

The President of the Illinois Federation of Republican Women, Phyllis Schlafly, told a wildly cheering audience at the Hotel Fairmont that if the late President Kennedy had been an accurate hip-shooter like Goldwater there would never have been a Berlin Wall or a Bay of Pigs disaster.

Maybe, maybe. But, dodging the international implications of Phyllis Schlafly's celebration of accurate hip-shooting, one may say that the nomination of Barry Goldwater in San Francisco was quite in keeping with the city's tradition.

Nothing in the history of the town smacks of measuring out one's span of life in mincing spoonfuls of prudence. They weren't prudent men who responded to the news of gold in Sutter's millrace. They weren't prudent men who marched behind Lieutenant Montgomery to plant the American eagle in Portsmouth Plaza. The Big Four — Leland Stanford, Collis Huntington, Charles Crocker and Mark Hopkins — who threw the old Central Pacific Railroad over the peaks and gorges of the Sierra — were not known for careful reclusiveness. And the Kings of the Comstock silver lode who reared their mansions on Nob Hill knew how to twirl a gun or two.

The world has changed since then. But it might not hurt for Khrushchev and Mao Tse-tung to be reminded of the history of San Francisco.

While on the subject of boldness, this columnist would like to pay tribute to one of the profession who has been columnizing since the 1920s. I refer to Walter Winchell, now 67 years old. His nervous vitality puts any of this generation's cub reporters to shame.

I started to come back with him from the Cow Palace to San Francisco at 12 o'clock one night. It was three o'clock before I got to bed. Walter had a taxi lined up to take us in. But when a group of CORE demonstrators attempted to lie down at the Cow Palace gates Winchell said, "I gotta see this." A minute later he was up on the roof directing camera men.

Then he was down in the crowd, insisting that a Negro civil rights protester with a big police dog in leash stop to be interviewed. Walter wanted to know whether the protester was "returning the compliment" for Birmingham, Ala. He received this answer: "We've got the dog here for experience. We're training him."

Walter had the guts to remind the demonstrators that it wasn't quite in keeping with their protestations of peace to shout, "We want Barry Goldwater with a rope around his neck."

When our cab had finally broken through the demonstrators and gotten into the city limits of San Francisco, we ran into fire. "Stop," said Walter to the cab driver, "I gotta see this." He was out in a flash, interviewing firemen. It took me back to the 1920s when, as a New York Times cub, I sometimes followed the oriflamme of Winchell's tilted hat to fires on New York's Delancey Street.

While Walter was interviewing firemen, all of whom seemed to know him well, I talked with the cab driver. He happened to be the radio dispatcher for his company's cabs at the Cow Palace.

"Those demonstrators," he said, "kept my boys today from getting in and out with their cabs. I don't know how many fares my boys lost. I tell you, it's no way to make sympathy for a cause when you keep honest people from making their living."

Here was the "white backlash" speaking in the flesh. It will surely show up in November if the street disturbances persist.

Influx from Rural Areas 'Dangerous'

GENEVA (AP)—The population implosion—the mass shift of people from the country to the city—threatens the world with serious overcrowding and health hazards, the World Health Organization says.

It predicted the influx from rural areas will increase as mechanization of agriculture reduces the farm population to only 10 per cent by the end of this century.

The committee of experts said the world population is expected to double by the year 2000 to more than six billion and called the drift to the cities "one of the crucial challenges of our time."

Editor Favors New Bill To Keep Public Informed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sam Ragan, president of The Associated Press Managing Editors Association, argued Tuesday in favor of a bill designed to give the press better access to public information.

Ragan, executive editor of the Raleigh (N.C.) News and Observer and the Raleigh Times, testified before a Senate subcommittee on administrative practice and procedure.

"Too often the secrecy stamp is used, I fear, to cover up bureaucratic blunders and mistakes, or merely to serve the timidity and fears of agency heads," Ragan said in a prepared statement.

He said the Administrative Procedures Act of 1964 would "correct loose language" of the 1946 act.

The 1946 act, Ragan said, allows information to be withheld "in the public interest" or for "good cause shown," but does not define these terms.

"They are left to the interpretation of agency heads of subordinates who take the easy course of putting the secrecy stamp on matters completely unrelated in any way to national security," he said.

Ragan said the original language of the 1964 act was to be preferred over proposed amendments.

"If there is a weakness," he said, "it is in the proposed changes which make exceptions too broad.

"Exceptions pertaining to certain administrative procedures within the Defense Department, for instance, may still contribute to the withholding of public information," he said.

Ragan quoted Sen. Edward V. Long, the bill's author, as saying: "A government by secrecy benefits no one. It injures the people it seeks to serve; it injures its own integrity and operation."

"It breeds distrust, dampens the fervor of its citizens and mocks their loyalty."

Speaking for himself and The Associated Press Managing Editors Association, Ragan declared, "In our time I cannot conceive of any matter more vital to the nation and its people than communication between all the diverse elements that make up this great country."

"I do not propose that the press should subsist on handouts," he said, "but I do not think requests for information should be arbitrarily denied. It should in fact, be available on request and regularly released."

"The right of the public to know the public's business, which is government in all its aspects, has long been recognized as one of the first bulwarks of American democracy."

Noted Blind Educator Dies At Age 76

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Dr. Eleanor Gertrude Brown, widely known blind Dayton educator, author and lecturer, died Tuesday at Kettering Memorial Hospital. She was 76.

Dr. Brown entered the hospital June 3 and underwent surgery for cancer a week later.

Dr. Brown taught in Dayton public schools 40 years.

Her eyesight partially lost shortly after her birth near Dayton, Dr. Brown was totally blind at 11. She accepted the affliction as challenge, rather than handicap, and in a life which surmounted it, made herself a symbol of courage and inspiration.

In 1958, she published her autobiography, "Corridors of Light," on which she had worked for 15 years. Earlier Dr. Brown had written "Milton's Blindness," a thesis.

The Biter's Bit

EAST LONDON, South Africa (AP)—A bull mastiff in this Indian Ocean port doesn't bite postmen—he looks after them.

When postman Kenny Davidson started on his round about a year ago the bull mastiff trotted along behind him. He soon demonstrated his good intentions. He chased off other dogs which tried to bite Davidson.

Since then he has been on duty with Davidson nearly every day.

Davidson says his predecessor on the same round was also guarded by the mastiff.

Summertime Recipes Are Cool and Light

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

Each season has its own food adjectives. In winter, for example, anything that's "hot" or "hearty" seems appealing.

In summer, the adjectives that sound appetizing are "cool" or "light". They're adjectives that apply to today's group of tempting recipes.

For a dessert, there's Rice Cream Ring filled with strawberries. It goes from the refrigerator to the table and it is luscious - looking and real cool!

Since this is the time of year when cool drinks are in order, we're suggesting three: Cranberry Fruit Fizz, Cranberry Whirl and Cranberry Cream.

RICE CREAM RING

1 1/2 c. water
2 c. cold milk
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 c. uncooked rice
1 c. sugar
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
2 tsp. vanilla
1 c. dry instant non-dairy coffee creamer
1/4 tsp. cinnamon
1 pt. fresh California strawberries, washed and hulled.

Combine and heat water, 1 1/2 c. milk and salt in top of double boiler. Add rice; cover and cook over simmering water, stirring occasionally for about 45 min., or until rice is tender.

Mix 1/4 c. sugar with gelatin; stir into rice until gelatin dissolves. Remove from heat; cool.

Stir in 1 tsp. vanilla; chill until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from spoon. Meanwhile chill bowl and beaters in refrigerator for 15 min.

Blend non-dairy coffee creamer, remaining vanilla, milk and sugar with cinnamon in chilled bowl. Whip at high speed with electric mixer until soft peaks form (3 to 5 min.).

Fold into rice mixture and turn into 5 1/2 c. ring mold; chill until firm.

Unmold on plate and fill the center of the ring with strawberries.

Serves 8.

CRANBERRY FRUIT FIZZ

1 tbsp. crushed pineapple
1 or 2 fresh strawberries, sliced
2 drained canned apricot halves
2 fresh orange sections
Chilled cranberry juice cocktail
Chilled quinine water

Place fruit in 10 oz. glass. Fill glass 2/3 full of cranberry juice. Fill to top with quinine water. Serve at once.

Serves 1.

CRANBERRY WHIRL

2 c. cranberry juice cocktail
3 c. (1 1/2 pts.) lemon sherbet
Blend cranberry juice and 2 c. sherbet in blender until smooth and well-blended.

Pour into 4 tall glasses; top with remaining lemon sherbet.

CRANBERRY CREAM

1 c. sour cream
2 eggs
1/2 c. sugar
1/2 tsp. nutmeg
2 c. cranberry juice cocktail
Beat sour cream with eggs, sugar and nutmeg until well-blended. Beat in cranberry juice. Serve immediately.

Makes 1 qt.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

No Chance for Change!

DEAR ABBY: My husband's "baby" sister (some baby, she is 44!) is getting married again for the fourth time. She lost one husband at Pearl Harbor and two in the divorce court. She is planning a big church wedding. Her excuse is that Calvin (her fiancé) has never been married before and HE deserves a lovely wedding. The truth of the matter is that all of hers were hurry-up affairs and SHE wants a lovely wedding. Besides, Calvin's people resent his marrying a divorcee and I hear they aren't even coming to the wedding. And you can just imagine how all our relatives feel about having to buy a FOURTH wedding present for the same person! How can I stop her? She doesn't listen to anybody.

SISTER-IN-LAW

DEAR SIS: If she doesn't listen to anybody, she is not about to listen to me. Stop wasting your energy. She is three times seven (Doubled!) and doesn't want your advice or mine.

DEAR ABBY: Please don't think I'm crazy but you are the only person I can ask. Is overweight hereditary? I am going with a girl who is a little on the heavy side. Her mother is so fat she has to go through the door sideways. And her grandmother is so enormous she has to be helped up out of chairs. I like this girl very much, Abby, and the thought of marriage has crossed my mind, but if she is going to turn out like her mother and grandmother, I don't know how happy I would be with her later on. What do you think?

SECOND THOUGHTS

DEAR SECOND: "Overweight" is not hereditary. But the tendency toward obesity is. Perhaps a thyroid deficiency or disorder runs in your girl's family. If you are considering marriage, you have a right to ask.

DEAR ABBY: I am a single woman keeping company with a man who is separated from his wife, but not divorced. He has three children to support so he never has any money. He seldom takes me out, but he goes into a rage if I accept an invitation to go out with someone else. Don't you think he is a selfish person to take that attitude? I enjoy going places, but never make plans that will interfere with our date nights. I see no marriage in our future and, therefore, don't see why I should give up all my friends. Am I wrong?

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: You are not wrong. This man is selfish, but you are foolish to continue seeing him, feeling the way you do. Lose him.

CONFIDENTIAL TO LAURA AND TEX: Your boy friend should use the rocks in his head to fill in the holes in yours! Phony names and phony ages would only make for a phony marriage.

Troubled? Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Action by Latin Nations May Put Pinch on Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Organization of American States is expected to ask all non-Communist nations this week to join in a new crack-down on trade with Cuba.

Should the bid be even partially successful, Prime Minister Fidel Castro's creaky economy undoubtedly would suffer serious new damage through the denial of badly needed imports.

Cuba's railway system is reported to be in a crippling state of disrepair. Trucks and buses are urgently required to replace worn-out highway transport. People stand in long, slow-moving lines to buy food at the stores.

The price of gasoline, which Cuba reportedly gets only from Soviet sources, is up to 60 cents a gallon as against 34 cents a year ago. Production of sugar, Cuba's big export crop, is off more than 25 per cent.

In the judgment of Secretary of State Dean Rusk and some of the other Western Hemisphere foreign meeting here this week, the Castro regime is vulnerable on its economic front. To them it makes sense to seek to apply new pressures among the punitive measures proposed for adoption because of Castro's support of terrorist activities in Venezuela last year.

But the trend in Cuban trade with non-Communist countries is now upward, after declining for four years. Britain and France have broken with Washington's policy of economic boycott in order to sell transportation equipment. Other European allies may follow this lead.

The first question faced by the United States and other Western Hemisphere nations, therefore, is whether they can arrest this upward trend in Cuba's Non-Communist trade and start it declining again.

The proposed new move to tighten the economic noose around the Castro regime would not mean any change in U.S. policy. This country has had a total embargo on trade with Cuba since February 1962 except for food and medicine.

The new proposal, however, would put an inter-American sanction behind what has been primarily a United States drive so far, and Washington officials believe this could have one practical result. It could cause Latin-American buyers to boycott the products of European countries trading with Cuba.

And since they need to buy many of the same things that the Cubans require those companies interested in Cuban trade might be faced with the loss of markets more important than those they could gain by opening up commerce with Cuba.

Poll Irregularities Claimed in Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — Secretary of State Ted W. Brown says alleged voting irregularities in three east side wards have been uncovered which merit consideration by the county prosecutor.

Included in the irregularities, which will be presented to the Cuyahoga County Board of Elections Thursday, is evidence of five persons voting illegally from councilman Jack P. Russell's residence, Brown said Tuesday.

Give Colored Linens Very Special Care

By ELEANOR ROSS

Help for the homemaker who has a growing supply of colored linens, comes in the form of information from the Vat Dye Institute.

This organization, in its role as representative of the country's leading dyemakers, has some special advice about the care of the technicolor linen closet. Here, then, are some rules on maintaining the color which has changed the interior of the linen closet from white to rainbow.

We are told that to keep colors fresh, colored linens must be washed as thoroughly as you would wash white ones. In general, vat-dyed colors in all the better grade of sheets will take high water temperature and can be put in your washing machine on the full cycle.

Read the label on chlorine and other products designed to brighten colors as well as whiten whites. Properly used and diluted in the right proportions, bleach can be used on most vat-dyed, colorfast linens.

You may wash white and colored linens together but here again read the labels on your favorite laundry products and use them always strictly according to the manufacturer's directions. He has thoroughly tested all washing methods and the use of various laundry products before working out directions for you - the consumer.

Colored linens can be dried, as can be white, in either the dryer or outdoors. Dry heat, too, will not harm properly dyed linens and most vat-dyed colors will stand up in the sunlight.

If you prefer, you may safely send colored linens to commercial laundries. However, do not use pillowcases or bed sheets - either colored or white - as laundry bags. This is a poor practice - that is, unfortunately, all too popular - both for the linen container and its contents.

Get the habit of rotating and combining various colored linens. It makes for a prettier-dressed bed or table and helps to keep the various items in use longer.

For instance, stripes and solids go well together and go with a variety of colors. Just as with white sheets, you can switch them around in use to give the linens a rest and so give them even wear.

Fitted sheets can also be turned over for longer wear - switched from top to bottom, just as is done with the unfitted variety.

Store all linens in dry places, or, if you live in a damp climate, use moisture-absorbing products in your linen closet to prevent that pesky mildew.

Tired of "straight" tossed green salad? Add slivered toasted almonds! The nuts give interesting texture and flavor contrast.

TODAY In History

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, July 22, the 204th day of 1964. There are 162 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1587 three ships arrived at Roanoke, Va., with 91 men, 17 women and 9 children aboard. Help and supplies for the new colony were delayed four years coming from England. By that time the whole colony had vanished; no man has as yet penetrated the mystery of the "Lost Colony."

On this date:

In 1620, the Separatists, later known as the Puritans, sail from Leyden, Holland, for America.

In 1930, President Herbert Hoover signed the London Naval Reduction Treaty.

In 1933, Wiley Post completed the first solo flight around the world.

In 1934, desperado John Dillinger was shot to death by FBI agents on a Chicago street.

Ten years ago — National Guardsmen took over law enforcement in Phenix City, Ala., to end a wave of crime, corruption and fraud.

Five years ago—Communist-led guerrilla forces were moving on northern Laotian army posts.

One year ago—President John F. Kennedy asked Congress to turn over a railroad work rules dispute to the Interstate Commerce Commission in an effort to avert a nationwide strike.

Solon Sees Fraud In 'Rag' Purchase

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gullible administrators of foreign aid paid $1,500,995 for $40,000 worth of old rags delivered to Iran as fine quality textiles, Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., said Monday.

In a Senate speech, Williams said that someone seems to have been "extremely lax" in protecting the taxpayers' interests in connections with the fraud, which he said occurred in foreign aid shipments in 1958.

Williams identified Manouchehr Aadal who he said is an Iranian national in New York City, as the "key individual and the prime factor in this fraudulent transaction." He added that Treasury Department records showed Aadal's still unpaid "tax delinquency amounts to $464,234.03" for the years 1958-60.

Pickaway County Woman Seeking Miss Ohio Title

A 21-year-old Williamsport area woman, bearing the title Miss South-Central Ohio, is in Sandusky this week competing with other young ladies for the Miss Ohio crown.

She is Miss Diane Corcoran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Corcoran, Route 2, Williamsport. The family lived near Clarksburg in Ross County until the first of July when they moved to Pickaway County.

Miss Corcoran and 22 other Miss Ohio contestants rode in a parade through Sandusky yesterday evening which also featured several former Miss Ohio title holders.

Tomorrow evening the field of contestants will be narrowed to ten. They will compete Friday evening in all three judging categories — evening gown, talent and bathing suit. Fifty per cent of the judging points will go for talent while 25 per cent each will be counted for evening gown and bathing suit competition.

FIVE finalists will be selected and Miss Ohio of 1964 will be taken from this group to succeed Miss Margaret Emerson, Akron, who was crowned last year.

Winner of the Miss Ohio pageant will compete for the Miss America title in September at Atlantic City. She will also receive scholarship awards and an abundance of gifts.

Miss Corcoran, a graduate of Clarksburg High School, has been employed as a secretary at Pfizer Laboratories, Columbus, and has completed five quarters at Ohio State University.

Her father, Neal, is employed at the Dunlap Farm Equipment Co., Williamsport.

Punks Taken to Cleaners As Police Give Big Party

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—The police gave a party Tuesday night and a crowd of crooks was taken to the cleaners.

The party-goers included a number of persons wanted on charges of shoplifting, narcotics sales and burglaries.

The party—it was actually catered with food and refreshments costing $104—capped a three-month undercover investigation.

The hosts were detectives Robert N. Frey and George J. Hughes, who three months ago opened a laundry shop just four blocks off busy Canal Street in the heart of the city's commercial district.

Informers passed word to the underworld that Frey, posing as Harry Long, the laundry operator, was a fence—criminal jargon for a man who buys stolen goods.

Police Supt. Joseph I. Giarrusso said Frey and Hughes actually bought $47,000 in stolen property at a cost of $11,000 from 53 persons, including several real fences.

Giarrusso, Mayor Victor Schiro, Chief Asst. Dist. Atty. Frank Klein and newsmen gathered at police headquarters Tuesday night to listen over the police radio to the party.

It started at 8 p.m. Frey met his first guest at the door and ushered him to a back room. Other officers handcuffed the guest, who stood staring unhappily at the refreshments as a phonograph blared.

Sixteen of Frey's customers showed up. Another 14 uninvited guests came along and police said many were wanted in connection with other cases.

Then Giarrusso ordered sweeping raids on the homes of 10 known fences, where a number of other persons were arrested and a large amount of stolen property was recovered.

By early today, a total of 32 arrests had been made.

Frey said some of his customers brazenly brought large stolen articles such as lawn mowers, stereo sets, and televisions to him in broad daylight.

Goodchild Firm Awarded Contract

D. E. Goodchild Inc., local contractor, was awarded a contract for work in Clark County by the Ohio Department of Highways when bids totaling $8,700,000 were opened yesterday.

The contract awarded Goodchild calls for the widening and resurfacing of 1.5 miles of State Route 72 in the city of Springfield.

The local firm's bid was $506,941. The official estimate had been set at $474,600.

TODAY In History

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, July 22, the 204th day of 1964. There are 162 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1587 three ships arrived at Roanoke, Va., with 91 men, 17 women and 9 children aboard. Help and supplies for the new colony were delayed four years coming from England. By that time the whole colony had vanished; no man has as yet penetrated the mystery of the "Lost Colony."

On this date:

In 1620, the Separatists, later known as the Puritans, sail from Leyden, Holland, for America.

In 1930, President Herbert Hoover signed the London Naval Reduction Treaty.

In 1933, Wiley Post completed the first solo flight around the world.

In 1934, desperado John Dillinger was shot to death by FBI agents on a Chicago street.

Ten years ago — National Guardsmen took over law enforcement in Phenix City, Ala., to end a wave of crime, corruption and fraud.

Five years ago—Communist-led guerrilla forces were moving on northern Laotian army posts.

One year ago—President John F. Kennedy asked Congress to turn over a railroad work rules dispute to the Interstate Commerce Commission in an effort to avert a nationwide strike.

Solon Sees Fraud In 'Rag' Purchase

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gullible administrators of foreign aid paid $1,500,995 for $40,000 worth of old rags delivered to Iran as fine quality textiles, Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., said Monday.

In a Senate speech, Williams said that someone seems to have been "extremely lax" in protecting the taxpayers' interests in connections with the fraud, which he said occurred in foreign aid shipments in 1958.

Williams identified Manoutchehr Aadal who he said is an Iranian national in New York City, as the "key individual and the prime factor in this fraudulent transaction." He added that Treasury Department records showed Aadal's still unpaid "tax delinquency amounts to $464,234.03" for the years 1958-60.

Pickaway County Woman Seeking Miss Ohio Title

A 21-year-old Williamsport area woman, bearing the title Miss South-Central Ohio, is in Sandusky this week competing with other young ladies for the Miss Ohio crown.

She is Miss Diane Corcoran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Corcoran, Route 2, Williamsport. The family lived near Clarksburg in Ross County until the first of July when they moved to Pickaway County.

Miss Corcoran and 22 other Miss Ohio contestants rode in a parade through Sandusky yesterday evening which also featured several former Miss Ohio title holders.

Tomorrow evening the field of contestants will be narrowed to ten. They will compete Friday evening in all three judging categories — evening gown, talent and bathing suit. Fifty per cent of the judging points will go for talent while 25 per cent each will be counted for evening gown and bathing suit competition.

FIVE finalists will be selected and Miss Ohio of 1964 will be taken from this group to succeed Miss Margaret Emerson, Akron, who was crowned last year.

Winner of the Miss Ohio pageant will compete for the Miss America title in September at Atlantic City. She will also receive scholarship awards and an abundance of gifts.

Miss Corcoran, a graduate of Clarksburg High School, has been employed as a secretary at Pfizer Laboratories, Columbus, and has completed five quarters at Ohio State University.

Her father, Neal, is employed at the Dunlap Farm Equipment Co., Williamsport.

Many Colleges Slam Doors On Prospective Freshmen

CHICAGO (AP)—Many colleges and universities are slamming their doors on thousands of applicants because of a lack of space.

A high school graduate seeking admission to the University of Massachusetts or to one of the 10 state colleges in the Bay State came up against odds of almost 5-1.

The university received 12,000 applications for 2,600 openings in the freshman class entering in September. The state colleges, primarily for teacher training, admitted 3,700 of 18,000 applicants.

Georgia Tech has closed its registration books. The University of Georgia did likewise May 4, the earliest cutoff date in its history. Emory University took similar action March 10.

Villanova University, for the first time, had to put a lid on applications for the freshman class.

The University of Rhode Island and Rhode Island College had to cease consideration of new applications in the spring.

Providence (R.I.) College rejected more than 1,000 requests for admission.

"In all divisions of Rutgers (New Brunswick, Newark, Camden) by Feb. 12 we had received 14,000 applications from fully qualified students," a spokesman said, "and yet have room for only 3,555 in the next freshman class. The men's colleges in New Brunswick cut off applications Feb. 15."

The University of Illinois has

ed at the wedding of Miss Carol Hines and Mr. James R. Scales. The marriage was an event of July 17 in the Ashville Methodist Church. Miss Hines is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hines who resided in Ashville before moving to Columbus.

Bill Lockard, service man for the telephone company, had a very serious accident Friday when a pole broke, causing him to fall to the ground. He suffered serious injuries to both heels. He now has his right foot in a cast and expects to undergo surgery on his left foot this week.

Several local Volunteer Firemen visited him Monday night in Doctors Hospital.

The Ashville-Harrison Volunteer Fire Department made the following runs; July 15 — to the home of Chester Dyke, South Bloomfield where lightning struck a television antenna. No loss was reported; July 18 — a rubbish fire at the home of Marvin Custer, Scioto St. No loss; July 21 — auto of Mrs. William Burris, short circuit in wiring, $25 loss.

announced it may have to turn away 2,600 would-be students at its Urbana and Chicago campuses.

Dartmouth is rejecting applicants by the platoon.

In some schools such as the University of Missouri, enrollment will be limited by a shortage of housing. In others, lack of adequate classroom facilities is a big factor.

But the biggest factor is that children born early in the post-war baby boom now are knocking on college gates.

The State University of New York, comprising 58 units scattered across the state has had to turn away students in recent years. It pointed out that it receives applications from young folks who apply simultaneously to several schools.

Zip Code Slated For Parcel Service

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's 37 largest post offices, which account for 50 per cent of all mail, will soon be distributing outgoing parcels by zip code.

Monday's announcement by Postmaster General John A. Gronouski said the result should be speedier long-distance delivery, by one day or more, and less damage as a result of fewer handlings en route.

The announcement said post offices in Detroit, Philadelphia, Washington, Chicago, Houston and Minneapolis are already sorting parcels by zip code.

The program will be extended this week to Los Angeles, San Francisco, San Diego, Oakland and Sacramento, Calif., Seattle, Wash., and Portland, Ore. Another 24 offices will be included by Sept. 1.

Pickaway Grange Report

SCIO TO

Scioto Grange met Thursday, July 16, with worthy master Kenneth Beach presiding.

Final plans were made for serving dinner at the Pickaway County Fair on Tuesday of Fair Week with Salt Creek Grange. The men will take tickets at the gate on Monday evening.

Mrs. Orville Dountz placed first in the smocked pillow contest, Mrs. Paul Green, second, and Mrs. James Hastings, third.

The annual picnic will be held July 26, at the Darby Metropolitan Park at noon. Take Alkire Road west to Koebel-Suydam Road and then follow the signs. Members are to bring well-filled baskets, their own table service and a quart of strong sweetened tea.

Grange members and friends are cordially invited.

STAR

Star Grange met in regular session recently with Worthy Master Carroll Reid presiding over the business session. A contribution was made to the Volunteer Service Council of the Columbus State Hospital to help provide spending money for the patients attending the Ohio State Fair.

It was announced that three of the grange's youths will be attending Grange Camp at Kelly's Island Aug. 6. Star Grange is scheduled to work at the lunch booth on Wednesday of the fair and also at the gates on Friday. Delegates to the Ohio State Grange Convention were voted upon to represent Pickaway County.

Harold Furniss, county youth chairman, announced that county grange youths are to meet Monday evening, July 27, at the 4-H Grange Building to organize a fifth degree team and urged all interested youths to attend. This will also be the state contest and should create much interest.

The lecturer, Mrs. Clinton Ritchie, presented her program, "Safety on the Farm, in the Home and on the Highway." Helen Schleich gave a reading, "Don't Trip Over the Welcome Mat" and Mrs. Paul Dawson read "Let's Curb Farm Fatalities." Mrs. Ritchie read "Accidents on the Highways" and Linda Reid read "Driver's License." Mrs. Ritchie read "Fire and Its Hazards" and gave some interesting facts about houseplants and flowers that are poisonous.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. Ernestine Dudson and Melanie, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Beathard, Mrs. Wendell Hott, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hunsinger and Mrs. Joanna Kister.

The next meeting will feature the annual fish fry at 7 p. m. with each family bringing a covered dish to help with the supper. All members are urged to attend.

Liquor License Fees Distributed

Political subdivisions of Pickaway County received $6,811.75 as their share of the second quarterly distribution of liquor permit fees, according to State Auditor Roger W. Tracy.

Distribution of the fees to subdivisions of the state in the 1964 calendar year totals $2,403,949.

The payment, Tracy said, represented a decline of $120,462 from the first quarterly distribution made last April which amounted to $2,524,411. The state liquor law requires all such revenues be returned to the subdivisions in which the permit holder resides and the current distribution represents the license fees collected during the last three months.

Many Colleges Slam Doors On Prospective Freshmen

CHICAGO (AP)—Many colleges and universities are slamming their doors on thousands of applicants because of a lack of space.

A high school graduate seeking admission to the University of Massachusetts or to one of the 10 state colleges in the Bay State came up against odds of almost 5-1.

The university received 12,000 applications for 2,600 openings in the freshman class entering in September. The state colleges, primarily for teacher training, admitted 3,700 of 18,000 applicants.

Georgia Tech has closed its registration books. The University of Georgia did likewise May 4, the earliest cutoff date in its history. Emory University took similar action March 10.

Villanova University, for the first time, had to put a lid on applications for the freshman class.

The University of Rhode Island and Rhode Island College had to cease consideration of new applications in the spring.

Providence (R.I.) College rejected more than 1,000 requests for admission.

"In all divisions of Rutgers (New Brunswick, Newark, Camden) by Feb. 12 we had received 14,000 applications from fully qualified students," a spokesman said, "and yet have room for only 3,555 in the next freshman class. The men's colleges in New Brunswick cut off applications Feb. 15."

The University of Illinois has

ed at the wedding of Miss Carol Hines and Mr. James R. Scales. The marriage was an event of July 17 in the Ashville Methodist Church. Miss Hines is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hines who resided in Ashville before moving to Columbus.

Bill Lockard, service man for the telephone company, had a very serious accident Friday when a pole broke, causing him to fall to the ground. He suffered serious injuries to both heels. He now has his right foot in a cast and expects to undergo surgery on his left foot this week.

Several local Volunteer Firemen visited him Monday night in Doctors Hospital.

The Ashville-Harrison Volunteer Fire Department made the following runs: July 15 — to the home of Chester Dyke, South Bloomfield where lightning struck a television antenna. No loss was reported; July 18 — a rubbish fire at the home of Marvin Custer, Scioto St. No loss; July 21 — auto of Mrs. William Burris, short circuit in wiring, $25 loss.

announced it may have to turn away 2,600 would-be students at its Urbana and Chicago campuses.

Dartmouth is rejecting applicants by the platoon.

In some schools such as the University of Missouri, enrollment will be limited by a shortage of housing. In others, lack of adequate classroom facilities is a big factor.

But the biggest factor is that children born early in the post-war baby boom now are knocking on college gates.

The State University of New York, comprising 68 units scattered across the state has had to turn away students in recent years. It pointed out that it receives applications from young folks who apply simultaneously to several schools.

Zip Code Slated For Parcel Service

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's 37 largest post offices, which account for 50 per cent of all mail, will soon be distributing outgoing parcels by zip code.

Monday's announcement by Postmaster General John A. Gronouski said the result should be speedier long-distance delivery, by one day or more, and less damage as a result of fewer handlings en route.

The announcement said post offices in Detroit, Philadelphia, Washington, Chicago, Houston and Minneapolis are already sorting parcels by zip code.

The program will be extended this week to Los Angeles, San Francisco, San Diego, Oakland and Sacramento, Calif., Seattle, Wash., and Portland, Ore. Another 24 offices will be included by Sept. 1.

Pickaway Grange Report

SCIOTO

Scioto Grange met Thursday, July 16, with worthy master Kenneth Beach presiding.

Final plans were made for serving dinner at the Pickaway County Fair on Tuesday of Fair Week with Salt Creek Grange. The men will take tickets at the gate on Monday evening.

Mrs. Orville Dountz placed first in the smoked pillow contest, Mrs. Paul Green, second, and Mrs. James Hastings, third.

The annual picnic will be held July 26, at the Darby Metropolitan Park at noon. Take Alkire Road west to Koebel-Suydam Road and then follow the signs. Members are to bring well-filled baskets, their own table service and a quart of strong sweetened tea.

Grange members and friends are cordially invited.

STAR

Star Grange met in regular session recently with Worthy Master Carroll Reid presiding over the business session. A contribution was made to the Volunteer Service Council of the Columbus State Hospital to help provide spending money for the patients attending the Ohio State Fair.

It was announced that three of the grange's youths will be attending Grange Camp at Kelly's Island Aug. 6. Star Grange is scheduled to work at the lunch booth on Wednesday of the fair and also at the gates on Friday. Delegates to the Ohio State Grange Convention were voted upon to represent Pickaway County.

Harold Furniss, county youth chairman, announced that county grange youths are to meet Monday evening, July 27, at the 4-H Grange Building to organize a fifth degree team and urged all interested youths to attend. This will also be the state contest and should create much interest.

The lecturer, Mrs. Clinton Ritchie, presented her program, "Safety on the Farm, in the Home and on the Highway." Helen Schleich gave a reading, "Don't Trip Over the Welcome Mat" and Mrs. Paul Dawson read "Let's Curb Farm Fatalities." Mrs. Ritchie read "Accidents on the Highways" and Linda Reid read "Driver's License." Mrs. Ritchie read "Fire and Its Hazards" and gave some interesting facts about houseplants and flowers that are poisonous.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. Ernestine Dudleson and Melanie, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Beathard, Mrs. Wendell Hott, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hunsinger and Mrs. Joanna Kister.

The next meeting will feature the annual fish fry at 7 p. m. with each family bringing a covered dish to help with the supper. All members are urged to attend.

Liquor License Fees Distributed

Political subdivisions of Pickaway County received $6,811.75 as their share of the second quarterly distribution of liquor permit fees, according to State Auditor Roger W. Tracy.

Distribution of the fees to subdivisions of the state in the 1964 calendar year totals $2,403,949.

The payment, Tracy said, represented a decline of $120,462 from the first quarterly distribution made last April which amounted to $2,524,411. The state liquor law requires all such revenues be returned to the subdivisions in which the permit holder resides and the current distribution represents the license fees collected during the last three months.

Khrush Raps Barry, Urges 'Full Alert'

WARSAW (AP)—"Clean our weapons, always keep our vigilance and stay on full alert," Soviet Premier Khrushchev told the Communist bloc Tuesday night after attacking Sen. Barry Goldwater and the Republican platform.

Khrushchev spoke at a celebration of Poland's 20th anniversary as a Communist nation after the U.S. and British ambassadors walked out in protest against attacks on U.S. policy by Polish Communist party chief Wladyslaw Gomulka.

Assailing the Republican platform as warlike, Khrushchev said it was adopted in San Francisco "in an atmosphere reminiscent of the fascist (Nazi) gatherings in Nuremberg."

"The candidate put forward for the presidency," Khrushchev continued without calling Goldwater by name, "made it clear that he wants to enter the White House under the slogans of unbridled anti-communism and war threats."

"The Soviet Union has already existed for 47 years. During this period we have seen various mad and half-mad men. We have never been afraid nor are we afraid of threats. We cannot be indifferent, however, toward threats."

Gomulka also attacked Goldwater. He said it was doubtful the Republican candidate would be elected, "but the very fact that a man of this caliber has been nominated illustrates by itself the danger threatening peace in the world on the part of aggressive imperialist circles in the United States and their West German allies, who demand nuclear weapons."

U.S. Ambassador John Moore Cabot walked out after Gomulka declared that the United States and West Germany have "a common platform of militant anti-communism and of pushing the world to the brink of war."

British Ambassador Sir George Lisle Clutton, the dean of the Warsaw diplomatic corps, left after Gomulka finished. British sources said he considered the speech rough and distasteful.

State Is Not Certain Of Its Gasoline Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Nobody readily knows exactly what the state's annual gasoline bill is. New credit cards may provide the answer—eventually.

Each of the new cards will be honored by 16 oil companies and will be assigned to a specific state car or truck, says Robert T. Stivers of the State Finance Department.

The single card replaces the billfold-full that high-ranking officials have had to carry—one for each oil company.

Business Briefs

Second quarter earnings of $5,976,000 or 54 cents per common share, were announced today by Leo H. Schoenhofen, president and chief executive officer of Container Corporation of America, which operates a paperboard mill in Circleville.

The earnings represent a 28 per cent increase over last year's second quarter earnings of $4,685,000, or $4.2 per common share. Container Corporation's earnings for the first six months of 1964 were $11,129,000, or $1.01 per share, compared with $8,972,000, or $0.81 per share, for the same period last year, an increase of 24 per cent.

Sales for the three months ended June 30, 1964 were $96,184,000 compared with sales of $88,078,000 in the second quarter of 1963. Sales for the first six months of 1964 were $184,579,000 compared with $170,669,000 for the first half of 1963, an increase of 8 per cent.

Schoenhofen said improvement in sales and earnings was reflected in both domestic and overseas operations. "While we experienced a modest increase in volume, prices on fabricated products in the domestic area continue to be depressed," Schoenhofen said. "Our improved earnings picture is primarily a reflection of the profits accruing from the capital expenditure program we began in 1962."

During the past two and one-half years, Schoenhofen said, Container Corporation has invested approximately $75,000,000 in improving its mill and fabricating facilities in the United States and overseas. By the end of 1964, capital investment for the three year period will total $90,000,000. Important capital improvements completed during the past quarter include a $5,000,000 modernization program at the company's Circleville mill and a $20,000,000 expansion of its facilities at Brewton, Ala.

Oklahoma City Mummers Near Realization of Theater Dream

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP)—The converted warehouse at 1108 W. Main in Oklahoma City is the unpretentious site of an ambitious dream to make resident theater as important an element of community culture here as it is in Europe.

Once inside the double doors, you enter a world created and maintained by the Mummers, a semiprofessional acting company which borrowed its name from the roving acting groups of 14th century England.

"Our driving force," declares Mack Scism, the theater's energetic director, "is the desire to make the resident, repertory theater a basic part of the community's cultural and social life."

Scism, 36, has been with the group since its beginning in 1949 and became its full-time director in 1950.

There was a similarity between the acting group which held its first season in a second-hand circus tent on an open lot and the Mummers of old.

"That summer," Scism reflects, "the wind blew so much we spent rehearsals holding the script in one hand and a corner of the tent with the other."

Civic groups picketed the theater as "unwholesome" and a "public nuisance."

"The publicity made people curious enough to come see us," he said.

"The next season we moved into a more protected spot at Will Rogers Park," Scism said. "The trees kept the wind away, but about half of our performances were rained out because the top of the tent kept tearing."

The next year found them playing to audiences in the Municipal Auditorium.

They only had part-time use and were forced to keep props mobile and at a minimum.

The group's flexibility came in handy when it took on the job of turning an unused warehouse into a theater.

The stage consists of a cleared area in the center of the room surrounded by tiers of rising seats.

Scism's determination was given a boost in 1959 by a $10,000 Ford Foundation grant to spend a year visiting theaters in Europe, Canada and the United States.

The Mummers are also participating in another Ford-financed venture, the Theater Communications Group, with eight college and 15 community theater bodies.

Scism says he hopes the group can nurture dying theater crafts such as wig making and costuming—crafts now restricted largely to Europe.

Next season will see the Mummers well along toward becoming a professional instead of a semiprofessional company.

The eight-play schedule will run 41 weeks instead of 32, and the acting company will be expanded by players who will devote their time to stage roles and not double as office personnel and prop and costume makers.

The Mummers have a $1,250,000 Ford grant and community donations of well over $750,000 to build a new home.

Wild Bill Tucker Remains Colorful Hollywood Figure

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Wild Bill Tucker has gone unshorn for 15 years. His mane hangs white and stringy below his shoulders, his mustache is wide and luxuriant and his goatee is longer than a billygoat's.

He presents an imposing figure as he strides down Hollywood Boulevard daily in Western-style tan gabardine suit, yellow silk shirt, black cowboy boots and Stetson hat. He resembles everyone's conception of Buffalo Bill, yet for Col. Cody he has scant regard.

"Talked to him once in San Francisco at the World's Fair," said Wild Bill. "He was all right. Drank a lot in his later years. He was a good politician, I'll say that for him."

He was standing on a corner as a bus disgorged some travelers. He greeted several of them and they said, "Hello, Bill," and continued on their way. He resumed talking in his rambling, non-stop manner.

"People like this get-up of mine. It means something to 'em, something of the old West. They like to talk to me."

"It makes me feel good to be around people. I'm 72 years old and I never felt better in my life. That's because I like people and I take care of myself. I eat good, sleep good and get loads of exercise."

He demonstrated some of his calisthenics. One consisted of flexing his arms and moving them rapidly from side to side. Another he admitted was nothing more or less than the shimmy—"It's great for getting the blood to the brain and other vital organs."

He was born John William Tucker in Beatrice, Neb. where, he noted, Wild Bill Hickock shot it out with the McCandless. His father was a frontier judge who was born in the same Missouri county where Daniel Boone died.

Bill got into show business in 1912 as an imitator and whistler, billed as Tommy Tucker. It was a pretty lousy act, as he recalled it. After war service as an air instructor, he followed a number of occupations in and around the entertainment world. Among them: imitating sounds for movie cartoons.

"I can make any sound you name; here's a hurricane," he said.

"Shucks, I wasn't no movie star or anything like that," he remarked. "But I can make more money now than I ever did before. Don't want to work, though. I got my Army pension and my Social Security. That's all I need."

State Is Not Certain Of Its Gasoline Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Nobody really knows exactly what the state's annual gasoline bill is. New credit cards may provide the answer—eventually.

Each of the new cards will be honored by 16 oil companies and will be assigned to a specific state car or truck, says Robert T. Stivers of the State Finance Department.

The single card replaces the billfold-full that high-ranking officials have had to carry—one for each oil company.

Business Briefs

Second quarter earnings of $5,976,000 or 54 cents per common share, were announced today by Leo H. Schoenhofen, president and chief executive officer of Container Corporation of America, which operates a paperboard mill in Circleville.

The earnings represent a 28 per cent increase over last year's second quarter earnings of $4,685,000, or $4.42 per common share. Container Corporation's earnings for the first six months of 1964 were $11,129,000, or $1.01 per share, compared with $8,972,000, or $.81 per share, for the same period last year, an increase of 24 per cent.

Sales for the three months ended June 30, 1964 were $96,184,000 compared with sales of $88,078,000 in the second quarter of 1963. Sales for the first six months of 1964 were $184,579,000 compared with $170,669,000 for the first half of 1963, an increase of 8 per cent.

Schoenhofen said improvement in sales and earnings was reflected in both domestic and overseas operations. "While we experienced a modest increase in volume, prices on fabricated products in the domestic area continue to be depressed," Schoenhofen said. "Our improved earnings picture is primarily a reflection of the profits accruing from the capital expenditure program we began in 1962."

During the past two and one half years, Schoenhofen said, Container Corporation has invested approximately $75,000,000 in improving its mill and fabricating facilities in the United States and overseas. By the end of 1964, capital investment for the three year period will total $90,000,000. Important capital improvements completed during the past quarter include a $5,000,000 modernization program at the company's Circleville mill and a $20,000,000 expansion of its facilities at Brewton, Ala.

Oklahoma City Mummers Near Realization of Theater Dream

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP)—The converted warehouse at 1108 W. Main in Oklahoma City is the unpretentious site of an ambitious dream to make resident theater as important an element of community culture here as it is in Europe.

Once inside the double doors, you enter a world created and maintained by the Mummers, a semiprofessional acting company which borrowed its name from the roving acting groups of 14th century England.

"Our driving force," declares Mack Scism, the theater's energetic director, "is the desire to make the resident, repertory theater a basic part of the community's cultural and social life."

Scism, 36, has been with the group since its beginning in 1949 and became its full-time director in 1950.

There was a similarity between the acting group which held its first season in a second-hand circus tent on an open lot and the Mummers of old.

"That summer," Scism reflects, "the wind blew so much we spent rehearsals holding the script in one hand and a corner of the tent with the other."

Civic groups picketed the theater as "unwholesome" and a "public nuisance."

"The publicity made people curious enough to come see us," he said.

"The next season we moved into a more protected spot at Will Rogers Park," Scism said. "The trees kept the wind away, but about half of our performances were rained out because the top of the tent kept tearing."

The next year found them playing to audiences in the Municipal Auditorium.

They only had part-time use and were forced to keep props mobile and at a minimum.

The group's flexibility came in handy when it took on the job of turning an unused warehouse into a theater.

The stage consists of a cleared area in the center of the room surrounded by tiers of rising seats.

Scism's determination was given a boost in 1959 by a $10,000 Ford Foundation grant to spend a year visiting theaters in Europe, Canada and the United States.

The Mummers are also participating in another Ford-financed venture, the Theater Communications Group, with eight college and 15 community theater bodies.

Scism says he hopes the group can nurture dying theater crafts such as wig making and costume-making—crafts now restricted largely to Europe.

Next season will see the Mummers well along toward becoming a professional instead of a semiprofessional company.

The eight-play schedule will run 41 weeks instead of 32, and the acting company will be expanded by players who will devote their time to stage roles and not double as office personnel and prop and costume makers.

The Mummers have a $1,250,000 Ford grant and community donations of well over $750,000 to build a new home.

Wild Bill Tucker Remains Colorful Hollywood Figure

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Wild Bill Tucker has gone unshorn for 15 years. His mane hangs white and stringy below his shoulders, his mustache is wide and luxuriant and his goatee is longer than a billygoat's.

He presents an imposing figure as he strides down Hollywood Boulevard daily in Western-style tan gabardine suit, yellow silk shirt, black cowboy boots and Stetson hat. He resembles everyone's conception of Buffalo Bill, yet for Col. Cody he has scant regard.

"Talked to him once in San Francisco at the World's Fair," said Wild Bill. "He was all right. Drank a lot in his later years. He was a good politician. I'll say that for him."

He was standing on a corner as a bus disgorged some travelers. He greeted several of them and they said, "Hello, Bill," and continued on their way. He resumed talking in his rambling, non-stop manner.

"People like this get-up of mine. It means something to 'em, something of the old West. They like to talk to me."

"It makes me feel good to be around people. I'm 72 years old and I never felt better in my life. That's because I like people and I take care of myself. I eat good, sleep good and get loads of exercise."

He demonstrated some of his calisthenics. One consisted of flexing his arms and moving them rapidly from side to side. Another he admitted was nothing more or less than the shimmy—"It's great for getting the blood to the brain and other vital organs."

He was born John William Tucker in Beatrice, Neb., where, he noted, Wild Bill Hickock shot it out with the McCandles. Bill's father was a frontier judge who was born in the same Missouri county where Daniel Boone died.

Bill got into show business in 1912 as an imitator and whistler, billed as Tommy Tucker. It was a pretty lousy act, as he recalled it. After war service as an air instructor, he followed a number of occupations in and around the entertainment world. Among them: imitating sounds for movie cartoons.

"I can make any sound you name; here's a hurricane," he said.

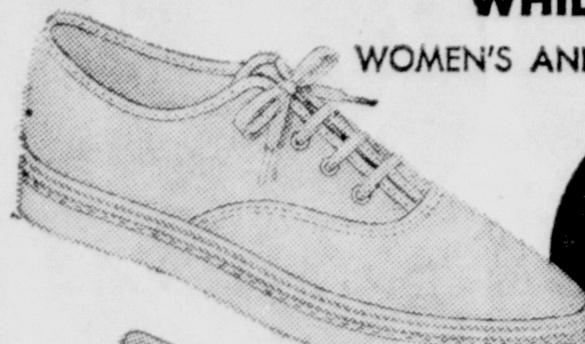

"Shucks, I wasn't no movie star or anything like that," he remarked. "But I can make more money now than I ever did before. Don't want to work, though. I got my Army pension and my Social Security. That's all I need."

Shepherds In Cyprus In Danger

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—The scene seemed straight from the Bible—a gnarled old man with a leather pouch on his back, grazing his sheep on a hillside in the sun.

They found his body next day, crumpled in the bottom of a well, with two bullet holes in his forehead.

Shepherds in Cyprus watch their flocks in fear, and the once peaceful profession has become one of the most dangerous jobs on the troubled island.

Twenty-one shepherds have been wounded or killed since near-civil war erupted between Greek and Turkish Cypriots. Dozens more have been fired at. At least 10 have vanished or been kidnapped.

"To find grazing for the sheep and goats, we have to go a long way from the villages, and there is no one out there to protect us," explained Abdul Hussein, a 30-year-old shepherd from the Turkish village of Hamit Mandres. "I never know when I go out in the morning if I will ever get home again."

"Forty-five days ago I was with my sheep over there," he said, pointing beyond the barren, dust-colored hills where nothing grows. "I heard shouts and stood up and there were four Greeks running toward me. They fired their guns and I ran—I ran so fast I left my boots behind. I hid in a dry riverbed."

Every year when the sun-seared fields dry up, the island's shepherds take their flocks to the rich green foothills of the mountains. This year the move means crossing enemy territory, for Greeks and Turks alike, and many shepherds fear their animals will die on the sparse lowland grazing.

"I am 77 years old and I have been a shepherd all my life, and this is the first year I can remember when I couldn't take the sheep to the hills," said Panayis Yanni, a hulking Greek villager from Mia Milea. "I am not afraid, but my wife is, and she doesn't want me to go to the fields at all."

Ben Bella Retains Iron Rule in Algeria

ALGIERS (AP)—Most of President Ahmed Ben Bella's enemies are in full retreat, and every new move against him seems only to tighten his one-man rule over Algeria.

Everywhere except in the Kabylie Mountains, the loyal national army is in full control. Rebel leaders are being picked up one by one or are fleeing into exile. All legal political opposition to Ben Bella's "Socialist revolution" is silenced.

Even in the Kabylie there is evidence that the traditionally rebellious Berber tribesmen, weary of almost 10 years of continuous guerrilla warfare, are wavering in their allegiance to insurgent leader Hocine Ait Ahmed.

Ben Bella's popularity appears to be declining everywhere as his pseudo-Marxist policies help to plunge the nation ever deeper into economic crisis. But for the moment there is no trace of widespread popular revolt or of sympathy for fugitive rebels still calling for a general uprising. Nor is there any sign of disaffection in the army, the mainstay of Ben Bella's regime.

Although he is beset by towering economic problems, Ben Bella has emerged strengthened from every clash with his hopelessly divided opponents.

Col. Mohamed Chaabani, who tried to stir the Sahara against Ben Bella, was betrayed by the same population that helped him for eight years to elude the French. His arrest roused not a stir of sympathy.

Maj. Ben Ahmed Moussa, who started a guerrilla campaign in the Oran area, was picked up in the same way. Several persons are under death sentences or awaiting trial for attacks on police and officials of the ruling National Liberation Front-FLN.

Col. Mohand Ou El Hadj, once commander of Ait Ahmed's guerrillas, has switched to the government cause and is raising a loyal militia in the heart of the Kabylie.

WILLOUGHBY, Ohio (AP)—People produce their own late, late show, David W. Talbot of East Ohio Gas Co. told Willoughby Hills Lions Club members.

"You are the producer, director and totally responsible for a dream," the speaker said. "And a dream is a late show without any commercials."

Mohamed Khider, former secretary-general of the FLN, fled abroad with more than a million dollars of party funds. He claimed he wanted the money used to help unseat Ben Bella, but the government propaganda machine seems to have succeeded in discrediting his motives.

Western diplomats are convinced that if the rebels succeeded Algeria would collapse into chaos and anarchy. The Western powers have quietly fallen in line with the Soviet Union in doing all they can to bolster the Ben Bella regime. "It often sticks in our throats, but we don't have any choice," one Western ambassador commented.

42 Foreign Countries Send Scouts

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP)—“We didn’t mean to do a rain dance,” Hidesaburo Kurushima, a Boy Scout from Tokyo, Japan, said as thundershowers soaked some 52,000 boys watching a world talent show at the sixth National Boy Scout Jamboree.

Kurushima and 17 other Japanese scouts dressed in shoe-length kimonos danced and bowed on the 350-foot grass stage at historic Valley Forge as the rains came down.

“Don’t worry,” Karl-Sunnar Fridman of Stockholm, Sweden, interjected, “we like it.”

The nine scouts he brought put on a life-saving demonstrations.

A Canadian troop attending the show, put on by 758 scouts from 42 foreign countries, sat almost unmoving in the big open air arena and let the rain soak their clothes late Tuesday.

“Why should we move and run for cover?” asked Tom Thompson of Cobourg, Ontario. “We were waiting for this for six days.”

It was a real international gathering—a “jolly good show,” said one of England’s 19 scouts.

Boys of all nations, of all races, of all religions, of all shapes, mixed—and swapped—particularly, handshakes. They spoke of friendships, not politics.

Two scouts from Jordan sang a song, and two boys from Israel listened and applauded. Taly Silber, 17, Jerusalem, then sang, too.

There was a babble of strange sounds as scouts across the world sought to find the words each could understand.

The talent wasn’t professional, but the thousands who sat and cheered and yelled liked it well. They asked questions about the different native costumes.

Six Pakistanis danced. So did eight from the republic of China and six from South Korea.

An eight-boy patrol from Trinidad did a hot calypso and nine Iranians sang two native songs, followed by African folk music by six Nigerians.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—If Sen. Barry Goldwater loses the 1964 election the Republican party will have to search for a whole new batch of likely presidential prospects.

With the possible exception of Pennsylvania’s Gov. William W. Scranton, the familiar figures of this year, and past years, seem washed out: Nixon, Rockefeller, Lodge.

Scranton at the end was Goldwater’s only active rival for the Republican presidential nomination. He didn’t make a glittering race of it.

Even allowing for his late start, much of his effort seemed wishy-washy and his campaign badly organized. But he is only 47. The presidential bug could bite him again although it took some biting this time to get him started.

Besides Goldwater and Scranton only Nixon, Rockefeller and Lodge seemed to have even a remote chance for the nomination.

All were figures from the past.

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon is only 51, which would seem to give him time for another try or two, except for what happened to him.

Although he lost the presidency to Sen. John F. Kennedy in 1960, it was so close he might have been in a favorite spot for the No. 1 role again if he hadn’t failed in a try for the governorship of California in 1962. His balloon went down.

A close loss of the presidency is one thing. But to lose the gubernatorial contest could be, and in his case seemed to be, a fatal blow.

He probably didn’t endear himself to Scranton or Goldwater. He called the former a puppet and tried to stir up opposition to Goldwater. The senator said he sounded “more and more like Harold Stassen.”

New York’s Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, 56, will be 60 when the 1968 election comes. But after what happened to him this year 1968 will probably be just a date on the calendar.

He was the one sturdy Republican who fought Goldwater through the primaries, campaigning hard. He beat the senator in Oregon, lost to him in California, and then dropped out when Goldwater’s strength seemed too much.

This was his second frustration and second withdrawal. He made sounds like a candidate in 1960 but Nixon had such an inside track for the nomination that Rockefeller pulled out without even trying.

If nothing else, age alone would knock Henry Cabot Lodge out of the picture next time. He is 62 now, will be 66 then. He was very unimpressive this year, except for a short time after he won the New Hampshire primary over Goldwater and Rockefeller.

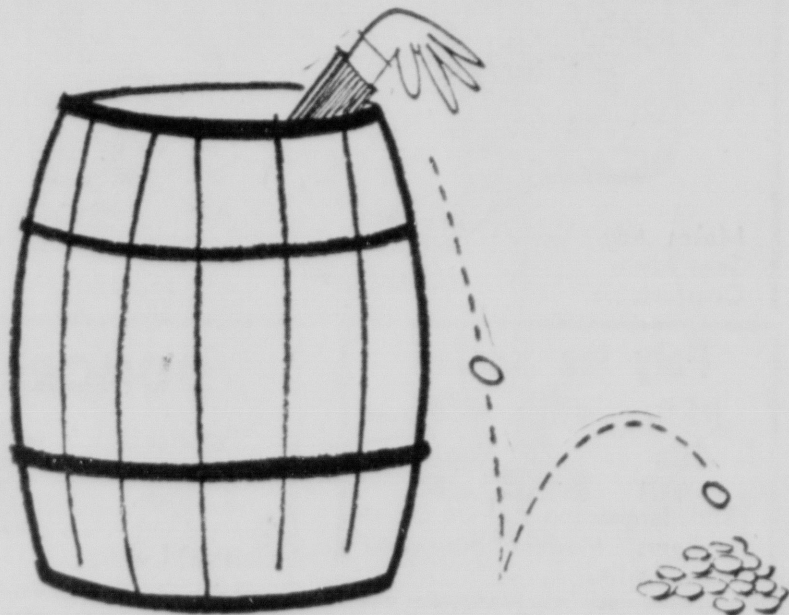

Lodge won there without declaring himself a candidate and while he was still U.S. ambassador in far-off South Viet Nam. When Rockefeller beat him in the Oregon primary, that finished him.

He quit as ambassador to come home, he said, to help Scranton beat Goldwater. But he wasn’t very dynamic after he got here. If he thought the lightning might strike him, he was probably the only one who did.

Yet, at the moment, there is no one in sight who could reasonably be said to be the man to replace these familiar figures from the past.

Here Are Goldwater's Views on Variety of Issues

WASHINGTON (AP)—Following are the views of Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, Republican presidential nominee, on a variety of issues, as expressed in his books, interviews, campaign speeches, statements and other public remarks:

ECONOMY

In a position paper issued late in June, Goldwater said he would act to hold down federal spending "by setting priorities—clearly stated and clearly understood."

To hold down the federal budget, he said, local governments should be taking on more responsibilities in meeting clearly established needs.

"Urban renewal and welfare services are two prime examples of what I mean," he said. "At the opposite end of the scale—of necessary federal responsibilities—are the needs of defense and national security."

In Dallas, Tex., June 15, Goldwater said "if we continue to enlarge the power and the purse of the federal government at the rate we are now enlarging both, we will have to institute a new economic system—we will have to adopt a form of U.S. socialism within the next several presidential terms, and maybe sooner than that."

President Johnson, he said in Monterey, Calif., May 26, has "absolutely no regard for the value of the dollar. We are headed for about a $10-billion deficit."

"As your president I would devote more of my interest and time to seeing to it that the American dollar retains its value," he said.

"We Republicans, seek a government that attends to its inherent responsibilities of maintaining a stable monetary and fiscal climate—encouraging a free and competitive economy, and enforcing law and order,"—from acceptance speech July 16.

Goldwater said in his April 14 position paper "What we desperately need are some clearly stated and clearly understood priorities for national programs. 'We cannot do everything at once and there are many things the federal government shouldn't be doing at all,' he said. "The budget can be balanced," he said in Chicago, Calif., March 17, "and I'm convinced that I can balance it without damage to any services in this country."

"I feel the cost of living increase has wiped out a large part of the benefits to be gained from the tax cut that was passed just a few weeks ago," he said in Paradise, Calif., on March 17.

Goldwater said in Wilton, N.H., March 5 the United States is doing its best to encourage freer trade but "The trouble is the rest of the world isn't helping us. It might get to the point where we have to lower quotas."

EDUCATION

Goldwater said in his April 14 campaign position paper "I have consistently opposed federal aid to elementary and secondary schools as unnecessary and unwise. Nevertheless, I have advocated that any such aid—should Congress ever authorize it—must in fairness be made available to all schools, public, private or parochial."

Goldwater said he favors tax credits for school taxes and for taxpayers supporting college students.

EXTREMISM

Goldwater said in Sacramento, Calif., on March 17 people who make extremism a campaign issue have "no business running for the presidency."

His remarks were aimed at New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, his rival in the California primary. Goldwater called the issue one of "small minds" that disregard the real problems facing the nation.

"All I can say is that I will take the support of any American who is not a Communist, who has not advocated the violent overthrow of our government, and the Birch Society, like the Americans for Democratic Action, extremists on the left, are operating, in my opinion, under their constitutional rights," he said in San Francisco on March 15.

"I seek the support of no extremist groups of the left or right," he said in Fresno, Calif., March 14.

"I would remind you that extremism in the defense of liberty is no vice. And let me remind you also that moderation in the pursuit of justice is no virtue,"—from acceptance speech July 16.

FOREIGN AID

"I am for a sound foreign aid program," he said in a June reissue of his campaign position declaration. He endorsed military aid and technical assistance.

"Soundly based economic loans, granted according to clear criteria, can also be a good investment for free world security," he said.

"Foreign military aid and technical assistance are valuable adjuncts to our over-all program of mutual security—the former to protect our friends against Communist aggression, and the latter to help free nations free themselves," Goldwater said in an April 14 position paper. "But, as it is presently conceived and administered, foreign economic aid raises serious questions."

"Our aid will be truly effective only if those we help have the desire and the will to become self-supporting," he said.

Goldwater also said "U.S. assistance to Communist-ruled nations has not helped foster any significant independence from Soviet domination."

"I don't think with the temper of Congress being what it is that the life of foreign economic aid has much longer to go," he said in Globe, Ariz., on Feb. 14.

"Instead of pumping dollars into these countries I would pump in education and know-how. That's what a foreign aid program should be," he said Feb. 10 in Thatcher, Ariz.

FOREIGN POLICY

Goldwater said in Dallas on June 15 lack of foreign policy and a "weak-kneed" foreign policy "are leading us into World War III as surely as we were led into World War II by the same kind of stupid ineptitude."

In Los Angeles on May 27 he said: "The greatest way we can help the free world would be to help the people behind the Iron Curtain assert their free will. Before I'm accused of being a warmonger, I say this can be done without going to war."

In Lebanon, N.H., on Feb. 19, he said a firm foreign policy is the best insurance of peace. "We're not afraid to risk war because we know by doing this the chances are that we won't have to go to war," he said.

"I don't think Johnson understands the foreign policy of Eisenhower," he said in San Francisco on Feb. 12. "What his foreign policy is doing is isolating the United States by bringing back troops, by bringing back bombers. We are disarming unilaterally and this is certainly not in keeping with Eisenhower foreign policy."

In Minneapolis on Feb. 3, Goldwater said, "If you get a Republican president you can get foreign policy changes awfully fast. In my case it would be changed to a policy not of belligerence but the same policy as under Eisenhower and Dulles of brinkmanship and the proper use of our strength."

GENERAL ELECTION

Asked whether he can beat President Johnson, Goldwater replied at a Florida caucus at the Republican National Convention on July 12: "I wouldn't be in this thing if I thought I was going to get beaten."

On June 30, an interviewer for the German magazine Der Spiegel had asked him, "Do you think you would stand to win over President Johnson in November?"

"If you ask that question as of now, and I always like to answer political questions as of now, no, I don't think any Republican can as of now."

"I don't think I'd be rash enough to say I could beat Johnson in the South as of now, but come Election Day there's going to be another horse race, I believe."

INCOME TAX

In his April position paper, Goldwater said, "I share the opinion with virtually every other American that our present tax burden is onerous, often inequitable and in need of reform. But abolition is the answer to nothing."

"As president, one of my first priority tasks would be to secure a complete overhaul of our present federal tax code, so that we might quickly achieve the reforms which are so long overdue."

"Personally, I don't believe in a graduated tax, I know we can't drop it," he said in Hillsboro, N.H., on Jan. 2. "A graduated tax is a penalty on ambition."

In Concord, N.H., on Jan. 7, Goldwater said an overhaul of the tax code would make possible a rate reduction of 10 to 12 per cent in personal income taxes and about 30 per cent in corporate taxes.

On Dec. 2, 1961, Goldwater said, "Get rid of the whole graduated income tax."

In his book "The Conscience of a Conservative," published in 1960, he said, "Government has a right to claim an equal percentage of each man's wealth—and no more."

LABOR

In his campaign position paper on labor, Goldwater said, "to achieve industrial peace, we must maintain a balance among the rights of employees, employers and the public. Our concern for the individual employee must always be paramount."

"He should be protected from abuse and exploitation—whether such abuse of exploitation stems from actions of his employer or from the actions of union officials," he said.

In Hillsboro, N.H., on Jan. 22, Goldwater said of right-to-work legislation: "Personally, I think very favorably of it. I don't think any American should be forced to belong to anything in order to make a living."

"Why," he asked in Kingston, N.C., on Jan. 17, "should a man be forced to join a labor union because 50.1 per cent of his fellow workers say they want to join."

"I wonder if industrywide bargaining shouldn't be looked into," he added.

MEDICAL CARE FOR THE AGED

Goldwater opposes medical care for the aged financed through Social Security. He says it would mean socialized medicine, and would push the Social Security tax so high as to endanger that system.

"The Social Security system is not the way to do it effectively. One sure way to wreck the Social Security system would be to saddle it with unnecessary new burdens, such as medicare. We penalize every aged citizen if we thus bankrupt the system which protects them," he told The Associated Press on July 5.

He said on Oct. 20, 1963: "Health care for the aged is already provided for by the Kerr-Mills bill and by private programs. In this whole field of health, I would favor tax credit or tax deduction for any monies paid for the purpose of taking care of the aged."

Goldwater who voted against the Kerr-Mills bill, now says he thinks this is as far as the government should go.

NATO

Goldwater, in his campaign position statement, said: "The greatest force for freedom in the world today is the powerful Atlantic Alliance, the NATO community. But the present administration has allowed NATO to drift into disarray—to the point where it is split, leaderless and badly lagging in its goal of building and maintaining a solid barrier against communism."

He opposed the multilateral force concept as a gimmick to give the appearance of NATO unity, and said it would not be workable.

He proposed these steps: 1. Consultation with NATO allies prior to major policy decisions affecting their security. 2. A pledge not to engage in bilateral negotiations with the Soviet Union on matters involving security or interests of NATO nations.

3. "The sharing of nuclear secrets within the framework of existing law."

4. "The training of all NATO forces stationed in Europe, regardless of nationality, in the use of battlefield or tactical nuclear weapons. I suggest that the supreme commander of NATO, who is an American officer and probably always will be, have direct command over a NATO nuclear force, trained, ready and equipped, on European soil."

Goldwater says he was misquoted as saying in Hartford, Conn., on Oct. 24, 1963 that he wants NATO commanders—plural—to have authority over tactical nuclear weapons.

He said he was talking about the supreme commander.

In San Francisco on July 13, Goldwater told Florida delegates to the GOP Convention:

"I've suggested that we never remove this responsibility from the President but that the commander of NATO have a little more leeway in the selection of weapons and the timeliness of weapons."

At Fayetteville, N.C., on Jan. 18, Goldwater said:

"We can't expect NATO to fight a modern war with World War II weapons, and that is what we're asking them to do. If we have to wait for a consultation at the White House before retaliating with nuclear tactical weapons, I'm afraid we would lose in a ground attack over there."

"... The greatest bulwark ever erected by free nations, the NATO community," (From acceptance speech July 16).

NUCLEAR TEST BAN

"I voted against the treaty because it, in effect, freezes the Soviet Union in a superior position to the United States as regards the uses and effects of high-yield weapons while leaving open the possibility of their catching up to us in the field of tactical nuclear weapons, since these weapons can be perfected by underground tests which are not prohibited by the treaty," Goldwater said in his campaign position paper.

"If I were president, I can conceive of situations in which it would be necessary to abrogate the treaty," he said. "If I found it detrimental to the interests of the United States to continue to adhere to the treaty, I would use the treaty's own escape clause to release us from its provisions."

"I also feel there are important areas of amendment which should be sought immediately, particularly in the area of peaceful use of nuclear weapons," he said.

SOCIAL SECURITY

"I favor a sound Social Security system and I want to see it strengthened. I want to see every participant receive all the benefits this system provides. And I want these benefits to be paid in sound 100-cent dollars. Protecting the value of the benefits is a basic necessity," he said July 5.

In his position paper earlier, he said:

"We will not preserve the Social Security system if we saddle it with unnecessary new burdens, such as Medicare. We penalize every aged citizen if we thus bankrupt the system which protects them."

"Nor is the public interest served by those who label every sincere proposal to correct and perfect the Social Security system as an attack on its basic principles."

"No president could end Social Security," he said in Monterey, Calif., on May 25. "I can't imagine the Congress in its most wild and stupid moments voting to end Social Security."

"In Concord, N.H., on Jan. 7, Goldwater said:

"I would like to suggest one change, that Social Security be voluntary, that if a person can provide better for himself, let him do it. But if he prefers the government to do it, let him. I wouldn't change it, but I believe he should be able to indicate his choice if he wants it. Or if he doesn't, let him say no to his employer. I think we will come to something like that in 1970."

LET'S EXPLORE OHIO

It is quite possible that Rome was not even a village when a tribe of prehistoric Indians had a thriving civilization in southern Ohio.

These mysterious people, now called the Moundbuilders, were growing corn and beans in the bottom lands along the tributaries of the Scioto River.

Carrying soil in baskets on their heads, these people built their burial mounds and their ceremonial mounds, such as Serpent Mound in Adams County near the present Ohio town of Locust Grove on Route 73.

The earliest pioneers visited and marvelled at this huge, man-made mound which winds its way along a ridge for some 1300 feet. Viewed from the observation tower in Serpent Mound State Park, this ceremonial mound has the form of a huge snake with an egg in its mouth.

It cannot be pure coincidence that the serpent finds its way into the religious art of the ancient Egyptians and the Aztecs and Mayas of Central America.

Today, motoring families by the thousands visit Serpent Mound State Park for picnics, nature trail hikes and other enjoyable outings.

Here Are Goldwater's Views on Variety of Issues

WASHINGTON (AP)—Following are the views of Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, Republican presidential nominee, on a variety of issues, as expressed in his books, interviews, campaign speeches, statements and other public remarks:

ECONOMY

In a position paper issued late in June, Goldwater said he would act to hold down federal spending "by setting priorities—clearly stated and clearly understood."

To hold down the federal budget, he said, local governments should be taking on more responsibilities in meeting clearly established needs.

"Urban renewal and welfare services are two prime examples of what I mean," he said. "At the opposite end of the scale—of necessary federal responsibilities—are the needs of defense and national security."

In Dallas, Tex., June 15, Goldwater said "if we continue to enlarge the power and the purse of the federal government at the rate we are now enlarging both, we will have to institute a new economic system—we will have to adopt a form of U.S. socialism within the next several presidential terms, and maybe sooner than that."

President Johnson, he said in Monterey, Calif., May 26, has "absolutely no regard for the value of the dollar. We are headed for about a $10-billion deficit."

"As your president I would devote more of my interest and time to seeing to it that the American dollar retains its value," he said.

"We Republicans, seek a government that attends to its inherent responsibilities of maintaining a stable monetary and fiscal climate—encouraging a free and competitive economy, and enforcing law and order,"—from acceptance speech July 16.

Goldwater said in his April 14 position paper "What we desperately need are some clearly stated and clearly understood priorities for national programs. We cannot do everything at once and there are many things the federal government shouldn't be doing at all," he said. "The budget can be balanced," he said in Chico, Calif., March 17, "and I'm convinced that I can balance it without damage to any services in this country."

"I feel the cost of living increase has wiped out a large part of the benefits to be gained from the tax cut that was passed just a few weeks ago," he said in Paradise, Calif., on March 17.

Goldwater said in Wilton, N.H., March 5 the United States is doing its best to encourage freer trade but "The trouble is the rest of the world isn't helping us. It might get to the point where we have to lower quotas."

EDUCATION

Goldwater said in his April 14 campaign position paper "I have consistently opposed federal aid to elementary and secondary schools as unnecessary and unwise. Nevertheless, I have advocated that any such aid—should Congress ever authorize it—must in fairness be made available to all schools, public, private or parochial."

Goldwater said he favors tax credits for school taxes and for taxpayers supporting college students.

EXTREMISM

Goldwater said in Sacramento, Calif., on March 17 people who make extremism a campaign issue have "no business running for the presidency."

His remarks were aimed at New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, his rival in the California primary. Goldwater called the issue one of "small minds" that disregard the real problems facing the nation.

"All I can say is that I will take the support of any American who is not a Communist, who has not advocated the violent overthrow of our government, and the Birch Society, like the Americans for Democratic Action, extremists on the left, are operating, in my opinion, under their constitutional rights," he said in San Francisco on March 15.

"I seek the support of no extremist groups of the left or right," he said in Fresno, Calif., March 14.

"I would remind you that extremism in the defense of liberty is no vice. And let me remind you also that moderation in the pursuit of justice is no virtue,"—from acceptance speech July 16.

"Foreign military aid and technical assistance are valuable adjuncts to our over-all program of mutual security—the former to protect our friends against Communist aggression, and the latter to help free nations free themselves," Goldwater said in an April 14 position paper. "But, as it is presently conceived and administered, foreign economic aid raises serious questions."

"Our aid will be truly effective only if those we help have the desire and the will to become self-supporting," he said. Goldwater also said "U.S. assistance to Communist-ruled nations has not helped foster any significant independence from Soviet domination."

"I don't think with the temper of Congress being what it is that the life of foreign economic aid has much longer to go," he said in Globe, Ariz., on Feb. 14.

"Instead of pumping dollars into these countries I would pump in education and know-how. That's what a foreign aid program should be," he said Feb. 10 in Thatcher, Ariz.

Goldwater said in Dallas on June 15 lack of foreign policy and a "weak-kneed" foreign policy "are leading us into World War III as surely as we were led into World War II by the same kind of stupid ineptitude."

In Los Angeles on May 27 he said: "The greatest way we can can who is not a Communist, who has not advocated the violent overthrow of our government, and the Birch Society, like the Americans for Democratic Action, extremists on the left, are operating, in my opinion, under their constitutional rights," he said in San Francisco on March 15.

help the free world would be to help the people behind the Iron Curtain assert their free will. Before I'm accused of being a warmonger, I say this can be done without going to war."

In Lebanon, N.H., on Feb. 19, he said a firm foreign policy is the best insurance of peace. "We're not afraid to risk war because we know by doing this the chances are that we won't have to go to war," he said.

"I don't think Johnson understands the foreign policy of Eisenhower," he said in San Francisco on Feb. 12. "What his foreign policy is doing is isolating the United States by bringing back troops, by bringing back bombers. We are disarming unilaterally and this is certainly not in keeping with Eisenhower foreign policy."

In Minneapolis on Feb. 3, Goldwater said, "If you get a Republican president you can get foreign policy changes awfully fast. In my case it would be changed to a policy not of belligerence but the same policy as under Eisenhower and Dulles of brinkmanship and the proper use of our strength."

Asked whether he can beat President Johnson, Goldwater replied at a Florida caucus at the Republican National Convention on July 12: "I wouldn't be in this thing if I thought I was going to get beaten."

On June 30, an interviewer for the German magazine Der Spiegel had asked him, "Do you think you would stand to win over President Johnson in November?"

"If you ask that question as of now, and I always like to answer political questions as of now, no, I don't think any Republican can as of now."

"I don't think I'd be rash enough to say I could beat Johnson in the South as of now, but come Election Day there's going to be another horse race, I believe."

In his April position paper, Goldwater said, "I share the opinion with virtually every other American that our present tax burden is onerous, often inequitable and in need of reform. But abolition is the answer to nothing."

Stengel Sees Lightning as Good Omen

CINCINNATI (AP) — The incomparable Casey Stengel said he knew that when lightning flashed through the skies in a brief storm Tuesday afternoon that his New York Mets would beat the Cincinnati Reds that night.

And Old Case was right. The Mets won 4-2.

Stengel connected the late afternoon lightning to Bill Wakefield, who pitched five innings of scoreless ball in relief.

"This kid throws lightning," Stengel said. "That's why I sent him in there after that storm."

Stengel, however, did not say why, after he had gone to nature for guidance, he did not start the young right-hander.

Wakefield, a well-paid bonus pitcher according to Stengel, relieved Tracy Stallard in the fourth and evened his record at 3-3.

The victory was the Mets' fourth straight over Cincinnati and dropped the Reds from 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 games behind National League leading Philadelphia.

Joey Jay was the losing pitcher again—his sixth in a row. But as in Jay's other games, the Reds failed to give him any support at the plate.

Cincinnati's only runs were driven in by Gordy Coleman, pinch hitting for Jay in the fourth. He doubled after the bases were loaded on Johnson's single and two walks.

The same teams meet tonight with Al Jackson (5-11) opposing John Tsitouris (6-6).

Wins Posted By Banker, IOOF Teams

IOOF rolled past the Third National Bank in a 14-13 thriller last night in Little League Minors action and the First National Bank downed Ward's Market, 27-2.

Mike Webb was the winning pitcher in the first game as he allowed the Third Bank 17 hits. He walked seven men and fanned 11.

Dan DeLong started for the losers, but was relieved by Jim Plum in the fourth inning. DeLong struck out three and walked six. Plum whiffed six and walked four batters. Together they allowed IOOF 20 hits.

Wertie Teets had a perfect night at the plate for the Odd-Fellows, hitting a triple, two doubles and a single. Webb added a triple and double.

JIM GARRETT pace the losers with two homeruns and a triple. DeLong added a triple and a double and Plum hit a two-bagger.

In the First National Bank-Ward's tilt, Harold Smith pitched the complete game and was declared the winning pitcher. He hurled a one-hitter and fanned 17 batters. He walked four Ward players.

Dan Zickafosse poled two homeruns for the winners, Harold Smith added a homerun and a double, Steve Brink hit a homerun, Richard Hanley manage two doubles and Richard Sanseraint hit a pair of two-baggers.

Wayne Reid and Steve M u m a w were the Ward pitchers, with Reid charged with the loss. Together they fanned six batters and walked 13.

Don Fausnaugh ruined the no-hit bid with a towering homerun.

Dan Valdez Wins Over Dan Valdez

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) —Two featherweights each named Danny Valdez and each jealous of the other, battled for 10 rounds Tuesday night in what was billed as a climax to their feud.

The result: Danny Valdez, 125, of Los Angeles, was awarded a unanimous decision over Danny Valdez, 123, of Mexico City.

To avoid confusion, the Mexican Valdez was listed on the card as Daniel. His record now is 15-8.

The Los Angeles Valdez, who lost a title bout to the late Davey Moore April 8, 1961, has 26 wins against 7 losses.

Stengel Sees Lightning as Good Omen

CINCINNATI (AP) — The incomparable Casey Stengel said he knew that when lightning flashed through the skies in a brief storm Tuesday afternoon that his New York Mets would beat the Cincinnati Reds that night.

And Old Case was right. The Mets won 4-2.

Stengel connected the late afternoon lightning to Bill Wakefield, who pitched five innings of scoreless ball in relief.

"This kid throws lightning," Stengel said. "That's why I sent him in there after that storm."

Stengel, however, did not say why, after he had gone to nature for guidance, he did not start the young right-hander.

Wakefield, a well-paid bonus pitcher according to Stengel, relieved Tracy Stallard in the fourth and evened his record at 3-3.

The victory was the Mets' fourth straight over Cincinnati and dropped the Reds from 2½ to 3½ games behind National League leading Philadelphia.

Joey Jay was the losing pitcher again—his sixth in a row. But as in Jay's other games, the Reds failed to give him any support at the plate.

Cincinnati's only runs were driven in by Gordy Coleman, pinch hitting for Jay in the fourth. He doubled after the bases were loaded on Johnson's single and two walks.

The same teams meet tonight with Al Jackson (5-11) opposing John Tsitouris (6-6).

GIFT KIDNEYS

Q. Do people who have received a "donated" kidney live normal lives?

A. A world wide survey shows that 244 persons have received transplanted kidneys. As of last September, 92 were alive. Only 3 have lived with their gift kidneys for more than 2 years ... 100 lived less than one month. Doctors say that there is room for a certain amount of optimism but that the operation is still highly experimental and should be performed only by skilled surgical teams having elaborate facilities at their disposal.

LACTATION AND THE FIGURE

Q. Does breast feeding have any effect on a woman's figure?

A. There is no evidence that nursing has any ultimate effect on the configuration of the breasts. However, women who have nursed several children may eventually develop slack and pendulous breasts. Usually, if milk production is not prolonged and the breasts are adequately supported they should retain their normal shape when lactation ceases. As to the "figure" in general, a woman who does not gain weight excessively during pregnancy should find little difficulty in regaining her weight after delivery, whether she nurses the baby or not.

In Memoriam

In memory of our beloved husband and father, Linwood Happeney, who passed away 4 years ago on July 22, 1960.

In Memoriam
One precious to our hearts is gone.
The voice we loved is still.
The place made vacant in our home can never more be filled.
This day brings sad memories
Of our loved one gone to rest
And those who think of him each day.

Are the ones who loved him best.
No one knows the silent heartaches
Only those who have lost can tell.
Of the grief we bear in silence
For the one we loved so well.
In our hearts his memory lingers
Always tender, fond and true.
There is never a day my darling
We do not think of you.
Sadly missed by wife, Nora, children and grandchildren.
Mrs. Nora Happeney and children

In Memoriam

In memory of our beloved husband and father, Lloyd Hapenny, who passed away 4 years ago on July 22, 1960.

In Memoriam
One precious to our hearts is gone. The voice we loved is still. The place made vacant in our home can never more be filled. This day brings sad memories. Of our loved one gone to rest. And those who think of him each day.
Are the ones who loved him best. No one knows the silent heartaches. Only those who have lost can tell. Of the grief we bear in silence. For the one we loved so well. In our hearts his memory lingers. Always tender, fond and true. There is never a day my darling. We do not think of you. Sadly missed by wife, Nora, children and grandchildren.
Mrs. Nora Hapenny and children

PRACTICE A BIT

BEFORE YOU GO OUT ON THAT FISHING TRIP FOR THE FIRST TIME THIS SEASON, DO A BIT OF PRACTICING FIRST, ESPECIALLY IF YOU'RE GOING TO DO SOME CASTING.

MOVE BASKET UNDER A CLOTHESLINE. TRY THIS FOR AWHILE TO GET ACCURACY.

TAKE A BUSHEL BASKET AND TRY CASTING THAT INTO IT. TRY FIRST FROM A FEW FEET AWAY AND GO UP TO ABOUT 50.

PRACTICE WHEN YOU GET A CHANCE. THEN WHEN YOU ARE OUT THERE FISHING AND YOU WANT TO CAST INTO A LILY PAD AREA UNDER LOW-HANGING BRANCHES YOU'LL KNOW WHAT TO DO AND HOW TO DO IT.

PUT IT BEYOND A SMALL PICKET FENCE AND TRY TO HIT IT.

Cancer-Fighting Hutch Expects Redlegs To Win

CINCINNATI (AP) — Fred Hutchinson, a gruff but yet kindly guy, who is fighting cancer, says "I think I'm doing all right and I'm looking forward to winning the pennant."

There is no question, though, but that Hutch walks slower, takes more rest periods and admits his back hurts.

Hutchinson made his statement Tuesday night as he rested in his office while awaiting the start of a game between his Cincinnati Reds and the New York Mets.

The Reds, after floundering around for weeks, went into the game only 2½ games out of first place after taking three out of five from the first-place Philadelphia Phils. Cincinnati, however, dropped to 3½ games behind after losing to the Mets 4-2 Tuesday night.

Hutch discovered last Dec. 31 that he has a chest cancer.

He underwent treatments at Seattle, Wash., his home town, but rejoined the Reds in time for spring training. Since then he has taken on what amounts to almost a full schedule of work. At Seattle he was under care of his brother, Dr. William Hutchinson.

Rumors as to his condition have been rife since then. There was a set of them here prior to the All-Star game in New York early this month that Hutchinson was ready to quit.

He denied these with the now famous statement that, "I'll quit only if they fire me or if the man upstairs tells me."

He elaborated a bit last night. "I don't have trouble sleeping," he said. "Of course after any ball game it takes a little time to relax."

Earlier he had said he worries more about ball games than his physical condition.

"Others have the same problems I have," Hutch added, "and I am satisfied with my condition. I think I am doing all right and I am looking forward to winning the pennant and then I am going to my home in Florida."

Hutch said his weight is "good"—about 200 pounds—but he added, "I have lost some weight but that is due to my diet."

Since his treatment at Seattle and two later visits there—the last in June—Hutchinson has taken things a bit easier. He rests in his office after the team's batting practice. At times, he even stretches out for a while.

The Reds will be back on the west coast again Aug. 18 - 23 and when Hutch was asked if he planned to see his doctor-brother at that time his reply was:

"If I don't see him, he'll see me."

George Susce, coach with the Washington Senators, caught 17 games as a National League rookie with Philadelphia in 1929. He ended his catching career with Cleveland in 1944.

First base coach Jimmy Gleason of the Yankees broke into baseball as an outfielder with Zanesville, Ohio in 1933.

Golfing

with ALEX MORRISON
Teacher of Champions

Tom Nieporte's lineup when striking the ball for a runup shot is much the same as his starting position before swinging.

FEW GOLFERS are properly lined up mentally or physically for that moment when the clubhead strikes the ball. For most this instant is a most uncomfortable climax of fear, confusion and tension with inaccurate striking of the ball.

Just before impact the clubhead should be travelling in the right path at rapidly increasing speed with the clubface square to the proper line of flight.

The player's muscles should be working smoothly with his head and mind held steady. You can acquire confidence about striking the ball properly, develop the necessary control of your mind, muscles and club, by doing an extremely simple exercise.

Use a No. 4 iron with a very short swing similar to a medium putting stroke. Hold your head steady and you'll soon find it easy to keep the clubface in the same positions for starting the swing and striking the ball. Repeat this often.

Views on Television — Radio

EDITOR'S NOTE—Jerry Layton, producer of NBC's "The Doctors," takes us inside the wonderful world of the daytime television serial—they often are called soap operas—and shows us the complicated machinery that makes them work.

By JERRY LAYTON
For Cynthia Lowry

NEW YORK (AP)—Not long ago if a daytime serial actor found that he was required to say, "George, I can't seem to shake this cold," he immediately called his agent. "Al, they're giving me the pneumonia treatment. Better line up some auditions. I'd say the funeral's set for two months."

He knew his part was soon to be written out of the show. But with this formula being done to "death," so did the viewers.

Those were the days when you could go away on summer vacation and on your return find this guy still trying to shake that cold.

Those were the days, too, when the dialogue covered what happened yesterday, what might happen tomorrow, but with little or no action to show that anything was happening today.

I believe today's daytime television drama is a far cry from yesterday's soap operas. Tastes continually change in the theater, in motion pictures, in nighttime television—and in daytime television. No television chef today should rely on somebody else's old recipe.

What do we do on "The Doctors" in place of the "pneumonia treatment?" We don't just kill him off. We introduce a new character to strengthen the dramatic balance. We overlap the two and then let the newer one take over in importance.

Only one of our original four leads is in "The Doctors" after almost two years. We found that our viewers preferred a man of definite authority as the hero. So we introduced a chief of staff.

Originally we presented a new half-hour drama every day. We found that viewers wanted to know more about our leads, so we expanded to a full-length story every week. As our audience became more personally involved with the cast, we even lifted the five-days-per-story restriction to make continuing drama, in fact, a television novel.

Some specialists are prone to put the daytime television viewers under a microscope and come up with the pronouncement: "Daytime viewers are completely different from nighttime viewers." Not so.

People are people. The housewife who watches "The Doctors" in the afternoon is the same person who at night views "Bonanza," "Ed Sullivan," and Walt Disney's programs. That's why there are so many former nighttime programs now being rerun in the daytime. And they'd be flops if daytime audiences were "different."

Williams Collects TKO over Banks

HOUSTON (AP) — Cleveland Williams, the fourth ranked heavyweight, pounded young Sonny Banks of Detroit for five rounds Tuesday night and stopped him with a technical knockout at 2:59 of the sixth round of their scheduled 10-round heavyweight fight.

Williams relentlessly stalked the Detroit and knocked him down once each in the fourth and fifth rounds.

Williams weighed 217 pounds, Banks 199½.

A crowd of 9,000 saw the fight card. It was Williams' 49th knockout. He now has a 60-5-1 record. Banks, who never fought a round as an amateur, now has a record of 18 victories and six defeats.

PRACTICE A BIT

BEFORE YOU GO OUT ON THAT FISHING TRIP FOR THE FIRST TIME THIS SEASON, AND A BIT OF PRACTICING FIRST, ESPECIALLY IF YOU'RE GOING TO DO SOME CASTING.

MOVE BASKET UNDER A CLOTHES-LINE, TRY THIS FOR A WHILE TO GET ACCURACY.

TAKE A BUSHEL BASKET AND TRY CASTING THAT PLUG INTO IT. TRY FIRST FROM A FEW FEET AWAY AND GO UP TO ABOUT 50.

PRACTICE WHEN YOU GET A CHANCE. THEN WHEN YOU ARE OUT THERE FISHING AND YOU WANT TO CAST INTO A LILY PAD AREA UNDER LOW-HANGING BRANCHES YOU'LL KNOW WHAT TO DO AND HOW TO DO IT.

PUT IT BEYOND A SMALL PICKET FENCE AND TRY TO HIT IT.

Cancer-Fighting Hutch Expects Redlegs To Win

CINCINNATI (AP) — Fred Hutchinson, a gruff but yet kindly guy, who is fighting cancer, says "I think I'm doing all right and I'm looking forward to winning the pennant."

There is no question, though, but that Hutch walks slower, takes more rest periods and admits his back hurts.

Hutchinson made his statement Tuesday night as he rested in his office while awaiting the start of a game between his Cincinnati Reds and the New York Mets.

The Reds, after floundering around for weeks, went into the game only 2½ games out of five from the first-place Philadelphia Phils. Cincinnati, however, dropped to 3½ games behind after losing to the Mets 4-2 Tuesday night.

Hutch discovered last Dec. 31 that he has a chest cancer.

He underwent treatments at Seattle, Wash., his home town, but rejoined the Reds in time for spring training. Since then he has taken on what amounts to almost a full schedule of work. At Seattle he was under care of his brother, Dr. William Hutchinson.

Rumors as to his condition have been rife since then. There was a set of them here prior to the All-Star game in New York early this month that Hutchinson was ready to quit.

He denied these with the now famous statement that, "I'll quit only if they fire me or if the man upstairs tells me."

He elaborated a bit last night. "I don't have trouble sleeping," he said. "Of course after any ball game it takes a little time to relax."

Earlier he had said he worries more about ball games than his physical condition.

"Others have the same problems I have," Hutch added. "and I am satisfied with my condition. I think I am doing all right and I am looking forward to winning the pennant and then I am going to my home in Florida."

Hutch said his weight is "good"—about 200 pounds—but he added, "I have lost some weight but that is due to my diet."

Since his treatment at Seattle and two later visits there—the last in June—Hutchinson has taken things a bit easier. He rests in his office after the team's batting practice. At times, he even stretches out for a while.

The Reds will be back on the west coast again Aug. 18 - 23 and when Hutch was asked if he planned to see his doctor-brother at that time his reply was:

"If I don't see him, he'll see me."

George Susce, coach with the Washington Senators, caught 17 games as a National League rookie with Philadelphia in 1929. He ended his catching career with Cleveland in 1944.

First base coach Jimmy Gleason of the Yankees broke into baseball as an outfielder with Zanesville, Ohio in 1933.

Views on Television — Radio

EDITOR'S NOTE—Jerry Layton, producer of NBC's "The Doctors," takes us inside the wonderful world of the daytime television serial—they often are called soap operas—and shows us the complicated machinery that makes them work.

By JERRY LAYTON
For Cynthia Lowry
NEW YORK (AP)—Not long ago if a daytime serial actor found that he was required to say, "George, I can't seem to shake this cold," he immediately called his agent. "Al, they're giving me the pneumonia treatment. Better line up some auditions. I'd say the funeral's set for two months."

He knew his part was soon to be written out of the show. But with this formula being done to "death," so did the viewers.

Those were the days when you could go away on summer vacation and on your return find this guy still trying to shake that cold.

Those were the days, too, when the dialogue covered what happened yesterday, what might happen tomorrow, but with little or no action to show that anything was happening today.

I believe today's daytime television drama is a far cry from yesterday's soap operas. Tastes continually change in the theater, in motion pictures, in nighttime television—and in daytime television. No television chef today should rely on somebody else's old recipe.

What do we do on "The Doctors" in place of the "pneumonia treatment?" We don't just kill him off. We introduce a new character to strengthen the dramatic balance. We overlap the two and then let the newer one take over in importance.

Only one of our original four leads is in "The Doctors" after almost two years. We found that our viewers preferred a man of definite authority as the hero. So we introduced a chief of staff.

Originally we presented a new half-hour drama every day. We found that viewers wanted to know more about our leads, so we expanded to a full-length story every week. As our audience became more personally involved with the cast, we even lifted the five-days-per-story restriction to make continuing drama, in fact, a television novel.

Some specialists are prone to put the daytime television viewers under a microscope and come up with the pronouncement: "Daytime viewers are completely different from nighttime viewers." Not so.

That's why there are so many former nighttime programs now being rerun in the daytime. And they'd be flops if daytime audiences were "different."

Golfing

with ALEX MORRISON
Teacher of Champions

Tom Nieporte's lineup when striking the ball for a runup shot is much the same as his starting position before swinging.

FEW GOLFERS are properly lined up mentally or physically for that moment when the clubhead strikes the ball. For most this instant is a most uncomfortable climax of fear, confusion and tension with inaccurate striking of the ball.

Just before impact the clubhead should be travelling in the right path at rapidly increasing speed with the clubface square to the proper line of flight.

The player's muscles should be working smoothly with his head and mind held steady. You can acquire confidence about striking the ball properly, develop the necessary control of your mind, muscles and club, by doing an extremely simple exercise.

Use a No. 4 iron with a very short swing similar to a medium putting stroke. Hold your head steady and you'll soon find it easy to keep the clubface in the same positions for starting the swing and striking the ball. Repeat this often.

Council, conducting a scheduled public hearing last night on the city's estimated budget for 1965, moved on to a rather light legislative session for the remainder of the evening.

Several ordinances were on the clerk's desk, but official action was not taken due to the absence of Solons Robert Hedges and Joe Bell. Hedges was not present because of the death of his father.

One of the ordinances concerned the proposed addition of a man to the Circleville Fire Department. The solons have indicated this measure will be passed.

The proposed legislation calls for the promotion of a regular fireman to the post of lieutenant and the addition of one more man to the staff. It was pointed out that this move will permit Chief Bernard Wolfe to devote more time in a supervisory-administrative capacity.

A THIRD lieutenant for the department would provide a supervisor for each shift. In the past Chief Wolfe has served as a shift head.

Wolfe said Safety Director Miller Fissell said, providing the measure is passed a competitive examination will be conducted for the new post. All present firemen are eligible to make application. Currently serving as lieutenants are Noble Barr and Fred Howell.

The new fireman would be drawn from the department's eligible list. Chief Wolfe said

How to Treat the Blister Problem...

A remarkable new development of Du Pont Research now gives you greater protection against moisture blistering than traditional linseed oil paints.

SIMPLY DO THIS: 1—If the old paint has blistered, remove old paint down to bare wood. 2—Prime bare wood with Du Pont 49 Blister Resistant Primer. 3—Cover with one or more coats of Du Pont "Lucite" House Paint. Dries in one hour. Clean up hands and brushes with water.

Result—a rich, lovely, low-luster finish of significantly longer life than ordinary linseed oil paints!

High Hopes To Ride on Next Moonshot

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Ranger 7 will carry more than cameras when it is launched at the moon next week. On it will be riding the hopes and perhaps the future of the men who made it.

After Ranger 6 hit the moon last February but failed for the fourth straight time to return close-up pictures of the lunar surface, scientists at its Jet Propulsion Laboratory birthplace came under severe criticism from the parent U.S. space agency and in Congress.

JPL operations since then have been overhauled and Ranger 7 has been subjected to minutely detailed tests.

Result: JPL chief William Pickering gives it a 50-50 chance, compared with the 1-in-4 chance given Ranger 6.

"We are more confident about Ranger 7—we give it one chance in two—because we have one more shot behind us and some changes have been made to improve the reliability of the craft," Pickering said in an exclusive interview.

"I believe the National Aeronautics and Space Administration is now convinced that this is a complex and difficult job, but that we will be able to get pictures of the moon from at least one of the next three shots."

Whether Ranger 7 succeeds or not, Pickering said, there will be no more launchings this year due to other commitments at the Atlantic range.

"But we fully expect to fly two more Rangers early next year," he said. "Ranger 8 is already assembled and work has begun on Ranger 9."

All day Thursday some 300 scientists and engineers here will go through a full-dress simulation of the flight in the laboratory's new $14.6-million tracking center, which will control the spacecraft after launch.

Antipoverty Bill To Bring Headon Clash

Goldwater Poised To Lead Opposition To LBJ's Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP)—A $962.5-million antipoverty bill pointed toward a headon clash in the Senate today between the Johnson administration and Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican presidential nominee.

The many-sided measure, denounced by Goldwater as designed chiefly to get votes in this year's election, is being pushed by President Johnson as part of his declared war on poverty.

As Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana called the bill up for action in the Senate, the House Rules Committee planned to resume hearings on a companion measure.

Administration leaders were confident the committee would clear the bill for action by the House, but several days of hearings were in prospect. Once the bill reaches the House floor, it will face stiff GOP opposition.

Goldwater criticized the bill Tuesday as "an attempt to reap political rewards from the American people's natural and humane desire to improve the lot of our less fortunate citizens."

The bill's provisions:

—Unemployed youth programs, $412.5 million, a jobs corps to provide education, work experience and vocational training at conservation camps and job training centers; a work training program for youths in high school and a work-study program providing part-time jobs for needy college students.

—Community action programs, $340 million. This would provide authority to pay up to 90 per cent of the cost of community wide action in health, welfare, job training, vocational rehabilitation, housing and basic education.

—Combating rural poverty, $50 million, including authority for grants of up to $1,500 for low-income rural families and loans of up to $2,500 to finance nonfarm enterprises and to establish housing, sanitation, education and child day-care programs for migrant farm workers.

—Work experience programs, $150 million, experimental and demonstration projects to encourage state programs for unemployed fathers.

Staff Increase For CFD Studied

Council, conducting a scheduled public hearing last night on the city's estimated budget for 1965, moved on to a rather light legislative session for the remainder of the evening.

Several ordinances were on the clerk's desk, but official action was not taken due to the absence of solons Robert Hedges and Joe Bell. Hedges was not present because of the death of his father.

One of the ordinances concerned the proposed addition of a man to the Circleville Fire Department. The solons have indicated this measure will be passed.

The proposed legislation calls for the promotion of a regular fireman to the post of lieutenant and the addition of one more man to the staff. It was pointed out that this move will permit Chief Bernard Wolfe to devote more time in a supervisory-administrative capacity.

A THIRD lieutenant for the department would provide a supervisor for each shift. In the past Chief Wolfe has served as a shift head.

Wolfe said Safety Director Miller Fissell said, providing the measure is passed a competitive examination will be conducted for the new post. All present firemen are eligible to make application. Currently serving as lieutenants are Noble Barr and Fred Howell.

The new fireman would be drawn from the department's eligible list. Chief Wolfe said three men are qualified.

Wolfe and Fissell explained that the personnel increase effort has been undertaken as a means of helping meet standards set down by the State Inspection Bureau. Solon Keith Wagner termed the move as a step toward acquiring lower property insurance rates here.

Two other ordinances related to local sewer connections and provisions for a revised rate schedule for new connections. They also cover methods of connection and proper inspection.

In other business, Councilman John Jenkins recommended that Service Director Harlow Arledge inspect all railroad crossing repairs being made here. Arledge indicated that this will be done.

SOLON Boyd Horn demanded that steps be taken to prevent a dust in the vicinity of Pickaway, Corwin and Washington Sts. He said the problem is caused by trucks moving into and out of the Basic Construction firm at Pickaway and Corwin. The solons reached no decision concerning the matter.

Service Director Arledge reported that no definite date has been set for starting improvement work on Mound St.

Despairing of finding a "dream wife" in his small village, Cole threw a grand total of 1,282 bottled appeals for romance into the sea over the months.
